CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

This research was conducted to find out whether there is a significant difference between male and female's on understanding context clues in descriptive text at Senior High School LKMD Sukaramai. Based on what had been discussed, presented and analysed in the previous chapters, the writer concludes that:

1. The means score of male students' understanding of context clues in descriptive text was 49.62, are categorized into less level.
2. The means score of female students' understanding of context clues in descriptive text was 69.77, are categorized into good level.
3. There is a significant difference between male and female's on understanding context clues in descriptive text at Senior High School LKMD Sukaramai. The result showed that score of sig.(2-tailed) was smaller than score of α ($0.00 < 0.05$). Hence, it can be concluded that H_0 is rejected and H_a is accepted.

B. Suggestion

From all the explanations and the conclusions above, the writer intends to give some suggestion:

Firstly, for the teachers, they should understand and consider their students' that male and female students have different understanding about the same things. The male and female students may organize, receive and transmit their knowledge by different means and ways. The teachers need to make all of their students convenient with their classes, especially in reading skill. That is why the teacher should use appropriate strategies that help students to understand text books or other learning resources.

Secondly, the writer advises the students that they should find their own strategy that appropriate in learning to get the good skill in their reading. The students can practice with other kinds of text and strategies, learn with their own way that makes them convenient and enjoy their reading. The students may ask their teachers or friends for deep understanding in reading so that they can increase their reading skill especially Reading English.

The last suggestion is the further writer. It is hoped that the result of this research will be useful for readers. This research also can be one of the references for the next writers who want to conduct deeper research by using all various kinds of the text. They are also expected to be able to cover the limitation in this study and provide more detailed information about this.
