ABSTRACT

Melila Andini, (2017):

The Effect of Using Four Corners Strategy on Students' Vocabulary Mastery at State Junior High School 1 Singingi, Regency of Kuantan Singingi

The problem of this research was the aim of the curriculum was not achieved, that the students had to master the vocabulary in order to be able to master four skills of English. This research had 3 formulations of the problems: 1) is there any significant effect of using Four Corners strategy on students' vocabulary mastery, 2) how is the students' vocabulary master taught by using Four Corners strategy, 3) how is students' vocabulary mastery taught without using Four Corners strategy at SMP N 1 Singingi. The experiment was conducted at SMP N 1 Singingi from July 25 to August 25 2016. The total of population of this research was 122 students from 5 classes and the sample was 50 students from two classes. This research used a quasi-experimental research. In collecting the data, the writer used the test. This test was used to collect data about students' vocabulary mastery. There were two kinds of tests: pre-test used to determine students' vocabulary mastery before getting treatment and post-test used to determine students' vocabulary mastery after getting treatment. The technique of analyzing data was an independent sample t-test and it was eased by using SPSS 16 program. From the research findings, the score of t_0 was higher than t_{table} . It can be concluded that H_0 is rejected and H_a is accepted. It means that there is a significant effect on students' vocabulary mastery by using Four Corners strategy at SMP N 1 Singingi.
