CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

A Background of the Problem

Vocabulary mastery is the one of most important component in learning and teaching English, because vocabulary is one way to improve English skills. This is in accordance with what was said by Richards and Renandya (2002), that vocabulary is a core component of language proficiency and provides much of the basis for how well learners speak, listen, read, and write. So, to be able to speak English properly, one must master vocabulary. According to Cahyono & Widianti (in Rahman, 2016), if students master vocabulary, they can easily improve the language skills such as listening, speaking, reading and writing. Students can learn English easily if they master vocabulary. However, the teacher who teaches must have a strategy for how students can master vocabualry well.

According to Hornby (in Rahman, 2016), vocabulary is total number of words in which by combining them will make up language, or range of word known used by a person then the word arranged in alphabetical order and defined or otherwise identified as in a dictionary or glossary. Vocabulary is a collection of words that are part of a language, used to make a sentence in order to communicate or convey a message. When this vocabulary is combined in several words, it will form a sentence and have a meaning or a message that is No Sused to interact or communicate with other people.

In communicating or using English, you must be able to master the English vocabulary well. Currently, many students could not use English properly and correctly, so it was very necessary for students to master a large English vocabulary. So, the students' ability in used English depends on the vocabulary that was mastered. By mastering vocabulary, students easily create texts or describe something in written or spoken text. All types of texts require vocabulary to develop. One of the texts learned by students, especially students words grade VIII State Junior High School 4 Kampar, was descriptive text. In therefore, vocabulary is very important for students to master a large vocabulary. Therefore, vocabulary is very important for students to master when studying descriptive texts.

According to Wiradisma (2019), the difficulties in comprehending reading descriptive text are related to some causes; lack of vocabularies, difficult in finding ideas or theme, inability to construct the generic structure of a text, incapacity to use the grammar appropriately, and write sentences incoherently and others. In comprehending descriptive text students also need to master vocabulary, if students master vocabulary correctly, students can also understand descriptive text correctly. Descriptive text is a description of something, when students want to understand, make or write descriptive text, the students must first have good and correct vocabulary, so that the descriptive text can be understood and made as well as possible. As stated by Ningtias (2017) in comprehending descriptive text students need to know the vocabulary if they want to comprehend a text. So, as explained above when a student masters vocabulary correctly, comprehending of descriptive text will also be good.

Currently the students' vocabulary mastery was still lacking, especially 3 the eighth grade students of State Junior High School 4 Kampar who were researched by researchers. If they did not master vocabulary well, their comprehending of descriptive texts decrease. State Junior High School 4 Kampar which is located in Limau Manis Village, Kampar District is a conventional school. This school provides English as a subject for its students. The minimum achievement criteria in this school, especially grade VIII, is 75. State Junior High School 4 Kampar has been using the 2013 curriculum since 2017 and has only been applied to one class, and in 2019 it is applied equally to all classes. The 2013 curriculum uses a different assessment than before, namely assessing attitudes, skills, knowledge, and social. Based on Richard (2001), language curriculum development is an aspect of a broader field of educational activity known as curriculum developmentor curriculum studies. Curriculum development focuses on determining what knowledge, skills, and values students learn in schools, what experiences should be provided to bring about intended learning outcomes, and how teaching and learning in schools or educational systems can be planned, measured, and evaluated.

Based on the researcher's observation, the researcher find some phenomena that were found by students. It can be seen as follows:

1. Some of students are not able to identify the meaning of vocabulary in comprehending descriptive text. D

- 2. Some of students are still confused to write the spelling of the words in comprehending descriptive text.
 - 3. Some of students do not know how to use vocabulary in write descriptive text.
 - 4. Some of students are not interested in learning English vocabulary.

mastery in comprehending descriptive texts. By analyzing these problems, the researcher can find out what obstacles are experienced by students in understanding descriptive texts and the researcher can provide useful information for teachers, students, or people related to education

2. Mastery

Mastery is the ability to understand something or the ability of someone who can master something. As explained in the Merriam Webster Dictionary, mastery is skill or knowledge that makes one master of a subject. In accordance with the title of this study, namely the mastery of student vocabulary, which means students are able to master good and correct English vocabulary in comprehending descriptive text.

3. Vocabulary

Vocabulary is a collection of words used to make a sentence in order to communicate well. English vocabulary is an important component in using good English. If someone wants to speak good and correct English, one must master English vocabulary or have a lot of memorized English vocabulary. According to Faliyanti (2015), when they have a lot of vocabulary they can understand the English the easily, especially in reading.

4. Descriptive Text

State Islamic University of Sultan Syarif Kasim Riau

According to Wiradisma (2019), descriptive text is a text which lists the characteristics of something. Descriptive text is text that describes specifically about the character, color, shape or other specific things about an object.

CHAPTER II REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

Theoretical Framework

1. Concept of Vocabulary Mastery

Vocabulary mastery is the ability of someone to know, understand, and master vocabulary. Someone must be many memorize vocabulary, must to know how to pronunce, and know about the meaning. According to Thornburry (2002), mastering vocabulary means that students have comprehensive knowledge about the vocabularies which include the meanings, the spoken form, the written form, the grammatical behavior, the word derivation, the collocations of the words, the register of the word spoken and written, the connotation or associations of the word, and word frequency. From the explanation above, it is explained that vocabulary mastery is the knowledge of a person or student about vocabulary which includes aspects in vocabulary.

Mastering vocabulary can make students proficient in English, by mastering a lot of vocabulary, students will also know a lot about the meaning or terms in vocabulary. Then, by mastering vocabulary, in this case English vocabulary, students can also communicate well and correctly. As mentioned by Asyiah (2017), vocabulary is regarded as one of essential factors that gives big influence to the people's communication. So, this means that vocabulary is an important aspect of communicating.

a. Important of Vocabulary

Vocabulary is one of the most important components in learning English. To understand English, you need to remember a lot of vocabulary, or understand the meaning. Therefore, it is very important for students to learn about vocabulary, because in vocabulary learning there are many components related to vocabulary, such as the meaning of the same words, pronunciation, affix, and others. Then the vocabulary is very influential in four English skills, such as speaking, listening, reading, and writing. As explained by Richards and Renandya (2002) that vocabulary plays crucial part in one's foreign language learning and language proficiency that can affect how well learners speak, listen, read and write. Therefore, vocabulary is very important in learning English so that the four English skills such as speaking, listening, reading, and writing become better and fluent. Then, when studying vocabulary, there will be many components related to vocabulary that can be learned such as meaning of the word, spelling, grammar, and affixes.

According to Grauberg (1997) the process of learning vocabulary involves four stages:

1) Discrimination

State Islamic University of Sultan Syarif Kasim Riau

This is the basic step. It involves the ability to distinguish sounds, letters from those next to them, and from the sounds and letters of similar words when listening and reading; to keep them distinct when speaking and writing. As will be seen later, failure to discriminate is a frequent source of error.

2) Understanding meaning

This means understanding the concept of the foreign word or phrase. Often this is straightforward because the word can be related to its referent by direct association or because there is equivalent word in English.

3) Remembering

The next step after intoducing and explaining new material is to ensure its retention. Once learners have found out the meaning of a word, they have no reason to attend to it any more, and it will be forgotten.

4) Consolidation and extension of meaning.

Learning new words is not an instantaneous processif it were, and if presentation were the only critical variable involved, then words would not be forgotten and need to be relearned.

From this explanation, it can be seen that vocabulary is very important in language learning, in this case, English. To master four English skills, it is necessary to master vocabulary and its related components.

b. Aspect of Vocabulary

According to Nation (2000), the aspect or component of vocabulary are form, meaning, and use. The aspect or components are presented as follows:

1) Form

In this aspect, form has three components, that are spoken, written, and word part.

Firstly, the learners have to know what the word sounds like and how it is spoken (spoken for). Knowing the spoken form of word includes being able to recognize the word it is heard. On the other hand, it also involves being able to receptive or produce in order to express a meaning.

Secondly, the learner have to know how is the word written and spelled. As stated by Nation (2000), points out that one aspect of gaining familiarity with the written form of word is spelling. Spelling is the ability to describe a word by writing or saying it letter by letter.

Thirdly, the learner should also know every part of the word that makes up this particular items (such as prefix, root, infix and suffix). Prefix is an affix that is at the beginning of a word to form a new word and with a new meaning. Meanwhile, root is the base form of a word. An example is the word "Untouchable". The root or base form of the word "Untouchable" is "touch", the prefix is "Un", and the suffix is "able". In the word "Untouchable" there is a suffix, prefix and root.

Infix is the affix inserted into the root itself (in the middle). According to Udofot (in Ukam 2020), infixes are very rare in English, she went further to state that some infixes such as "bloody" is fused inside the word "impossible" so that the resultant word would be "imbloody-possible". Her conclusion is that even though such words like "im-bloody-possible", "kanga-fucking-roo" and "uni-goddam-versity" where "bloody", "fucking" and "goddam" are all infixes which are the middle of "impossible", "kangaroo" inserted inside "university", respectively, such English words are derogatory and are not used in a formal environment. Another example of infix is "fanflaming-tastic", the word "flaming" here is infix, fan-flaming-tastic comes from the word "fantastic", then add the word "flaming" in the middle fantastic and change the meaning. So, in this researh the researcher was not focus on infix, because infixes are very rare in English.

A suffix is an affix that is at the end of a word to form a new word and a new meaning. Example is "reading", the suffix is "-ing". According to Carstairs & McCharty (2002), suffix more numerous found are suffix for deriving nouns from verbs. One of them is "-ing", e.g. painting, singing, building, ignoring, etc.

2) Meaning

According to Nation (2000), meaning encompasses the way that form and meaning work together other words, the concept and that items it refers to, and the association that come to mind when people think about a specific word or expression. The meaning of vocabulary often has multiple meanings. For one word sometimes means more than one and has opposite meanings. The meaning of the word can also be understood in terms of its relationship items with other words in the language.

According to Harmer (1988) word meaning in language can relate to each other in a range ways, called sense relation, also labeled semantic relations or lexical relations. The types of sense relations that hold between words include:

- a) Anthonym are two words that have the opposite meaning, contradiction, or contrast between one another. Antonyms are also called opposite words e.g. alive-dead
- b) Synonym are two or more words which have the same meaning e.g. rich-wealthy

Nation (2001), there are some ways to draw the attentions to the use of words by quickly showing the grammatical pattern the word fits into (countable/uncountable, transitive/intransitive, etc), giving a few similar collocates, mentioning any restrictions on the use of the word (formal, informal, impolite, only used with children, etc), and giving a well known opposite or a well known word describing the group or lexical set it fits into.

Harmer (1988) said that words do not just have different meanings, however, they can also be strectched and twisted to fit different context and different uses. We say that someone is 'blue', we are not really describing a color but are saying something about how that person feels. In such a context, blue means something else. This is a metaphorical use of idioms. For example: "You look blue today" This idiom shows that it says something about someone's feelings.

3) Use

Word According to Nation (2001), there are some ways to draw the attentions to the use of words by quickly showing the grammatical pattern the word fits into (countable/uncountable, transitive/intransitive, etc), giving a few similar collocates, mentioning any restrictions on the use of the word (formal, informal, impolite, only used with children, etc), and giving a well known opposite or a well known word describing the group or lexical set it fits into. Here, nation involves the grammatical function of the use of words, phrases, collocations that usually occur with language usage, and any constraints used (in terms of frequency, level, etc.). c. Types of Vocabulary

Hiebert and Kamil (2005: 3) propose word has two forms, first oral vocabulary is the set of words for which we know the meanings when we speak or read orally. Second, print vocabulary consists of those words for which the meaning is known when we write or read silently. They also define knowledge of words also comes in at least two forms as follows:

1) Productive vocabulary.

Productive vocabulary is the set of words that an individual can use when writing or speaking. There are words that are well-known, familiar, and used frequently.

2) Receptive or recognition vocabulary

Receptive or recognition vocabulary is that set of words for which an individual can assign meanings when listening or reading. These are words that are often less well known to students and less frequent in use. Individuals may be able assign some sort of meaning to them, even though they may not know the full subtleties of the distinction. Typically, these are also words that individuals do not use spontaneously. However, when individuals encounter these words, they recognize them, even if imperfectly.

d. Difficulties of Vocabulary

In learning vocabulary, of course, there are several difficulties that will be faced by students. Thornbury (2002) said that there are some factors that make some words more difficult as follows:

1) Pronunciation Research shows that words that are difficult to pronounce are more difficult to learn.

2) Spelling

Sounds-spelling mismatches are likely to be the cause of errors, either of pronunciation or of spelling, and can contribute to a word's difficulty. While most English spelling is fairly law-abiding, there are also some glaring irregularities. Words that contain silent letters are particularly problematic: foreign, listen, headache, climbing, bored, honest, cupboard, muscle, etc.

3) Lenght and complexity

Long words seem to be no more difficult to learn than short ones. But, as a rule of thumb, high frequency words tend to be short in English, and therefore the learner is likely to meet them more often, a factor favouring their "learn ability".

4) Grammar

Also problematic is the grammar associated with the word, especially if this differs from that of its L1 equivalent. Remembering whether a verb like enjoy, love, or hope is followed by an infinitive (to swim) or an - ing form (swimming) can add to its difficulty.

Ha cipta milk UIN Suska

N a

Dilarang mengutip sebagian atau seluruh karya tulis ı pendidikan, penelitian, ini tanpa mencantumkan dan menyebutkan sumber:

State Islamic University of Sultan Syarif Kasim Riau

5) Meaning

When two words overlap in meaning, learners are likely to confuse them. Make and do are a case in point: you make breakfast and make an appointment, but you do the housework and do a questionnaire.

6) Range, connotation and idiomaticity

Words that can be used in a wide range of contexts will generally be perceived as easier than their synonyms with a narrower range. Thus, put is a very wide- ranging verb, compared to impose, place, position, etc. Likewise, thin is a safer bet than skinny, slim, slender. Uncertainty as to the connotations of some words may cause problems too. Thus, propaganda has negative connotations in English, but its equivalent may simply mean publicity. On the other hand, eccentric does not have negative connotations in English, but its nearest equivalent in other languages may be deviant. Finally, words or expression that are idiomatic (like make up your mind, keep an eye on....) will generally be more difficult than words whose meaning is transparent (decide, watch).

When learning vocabulary, you will definitely find difficulties when learning it. There are several factors as described above, such as writing incorrect spelling, difficult pronunciation, and the meaning of some of the same word.

e. The Classes of Vocabulary

Hatch and Brown (1995) classified word based on their functional categories and it is called as part of speech. According to Olivia (2018) there are different categories of parts of speech. Each part of speech explains not what the word is, but how the word is used. The main parts of speech are verbs, nouns, adjectives, adverbs, determiners, conjunctions, prepositions and pronouns. Parts of speech can be grouped into two major families, depending on their function and on their grammatical behaviour: Lexical words (or content words) and Function words (or structure words).

1) Lexical Word

Lexical words are the main carriers of information in a text. They can be subdivided into the following word classes (or parts of speech): nouns, verbs, adjectives, and adverbs.

a) Lexical Verbs

The most distinctive feature of lexical Verbs (also called main verbs) is that they carry meaning. Some verbs express meanings related to actions or physical activity (do, break, walk), others to mental or intellectual activities (think, believe).

b) Noun

A noun is a word used to refer to people, animals, objects, substances, states, events, ideas and feelings. Nouns can be the subject or the object of a verb; they can be modified by an adjective and can take a determiner. Nouns may be divided into basic categories: Countable nouns, uncountable nouns, proper nouns, and collective nouns.

c) Adjective

The main function of adjective is to modify nouns or pronouns. They describe the qualities of people, things and abstractions.

d) Adverb

Adverb add information about the circumstances of a situation or an event. They complete the meaning of verbs stating how, when, where, how often something happens.

2) Function Word

Function words can be categorized in terms of word classes such as prepositions, pronouns, determiners, conjunctions and auxiliary verbs.

a) Auxiliary Verbs

Auxiliary verb lack meaning and are added to a main or lexical verb to serve various functions. Auxiliary verbs can be subdivided into primary auxiliary verbs (be, have, do) and secondary or modal auxiliary verbs (will/would, can/could, shall/should, may /might, must, need, dare). Modal auxiliary verbs are also called defective verbs because they have only one verbal form each. For example, they cannot take the final 's' inflexion for the third person

b) Noun Determiner

A determiner restricts the meaning of a noun by limiting its reference. Noun determiner have several components, that is: articles, possessive determiners, demonstrative determiners, and quantifiers.

c) Conjunction

When you combine two clauses in a sentence, you may use a conjunction to link them and to indicate the relationship between them. There are two kinds of conjunctions. They indicate the different kinds of relationship between clauses in a sentence.

d) Preposition

Prepositions are linking words that introduce prepositional phrases, i.e., a preposition + noun/noun phrase. E.g. about, after, by, down, from, into, towards, around, without, because of, due to, apart from, despite.

e) Pronoun

Pronouns fill the position of a noun or a whole noun phrase. E.g. subject pronouns; (I, you, he/she/it, we, you and they), object pronouns; (Me, you, him/her/it, us, you, them), possessive pronouns; (mine, yours, his/hers/its, ours, yours, theirs), reflexive pronouns; (myself, yourself, himself/herself/itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves), indefinite pronouns; (Nobody, somebody, anybody, no one, everybody...), reciprocal pronouns; (Each other, one another), interrogative pronouns; (Who, which...)

Words or vocabulary are classified based on their function or use a word or vocabulary, we can see how the word is used. So, when communicating well and smoothly it is necessary to know the classification of the word.

f. Vocabulary for Junior High School

In teaching English, especially vocabulary, good and correct techniques are needed so that students are able to understand and master vocabulary. Learning English in junior high schools does not provide special classes on vocabulary. In learning the four English skills, namely speaking, writing, listening, and reading, students need to understand vocabulary, but most students do not memorize vocabulary much or even know their meaning. This will make it difficult for students to understand learning English in any skill, that's why vocabulary is very important in learning and teaching English.

Vocabulary for Junior High School students is also very important, to understand English, students must master the vocabulary. During Junior High School, there were not enough vocabulary mastered by students, the vocabulary that had to be mastered at this stage had to be adjusted to the students' learning capacity. The vocabulary that students must master is the vocabulary that is often used in everyday life and is also often used in learning. Especially when understanding descriptive texts, the vocabulary that students must master is the common descriptive text words that are often found.

For example, descriptive text in the seventh grade material that discusses oneself and family members, then the vocabulary that must be mastered based on the syllabus of curriculum 2013, namely vocabulary related to family members, pronoun subjects, positive pronouns, and verbs in the simple present tense. State Junior High School 4 Kampar has been using the curriculum 2013 since 2017, and the Minimum Achievement Criteria (MAC) in this school, especially grade VIII is 75.

2. Descriptive Text

Descriptive text is a text that describe about person, place, or thing, or it can also be said that a text that describes what the person or object described is like. According to Mukarto in Akim (2017) descriptive text is used to describe a particular person, place, or thing. According to opinion of Wardiman, (2008) a descriptive text is a text that describes a features of someone something, or a certain place. The purpose of a descriptive text is to tell the subject by describing its features without including personal opinions (Anderson in Ningtias, 2017). He also stated that the structure of a descriptive text consist of identification and description. The generic structure of descriptive text are:

a. Identification: introduction of thing, place, or person to be described.
 According to Karsinah (2015) identification is an opening statement which introduces the subject of the description to the readers. This gives the readers brief details about when, where, who, or what of the subject and is stated in the first paragraph.

b. Description: descriptions of the parts, qualities, and characteristics of the thing, person, or place being discussed. Descriptive text is use relational verbs "to be" and "has/have".

Examples:

- 1) Samuel Rizal is a famous actor.
- 2) He has very short hair.

The explanation above explains that descriptive text has two generic structures. This structure serves to build descriptive text that is more well-structured and correct. When writing or creating descriptive text according to its generic structure, the descriptive text will be better built.

These sentences are in the simple present tense.

1) Nouns

They are found in

- a) the topic of description: a classroom, and
- b) the parts of the classroom: doors, windows, tables, pictures, chairs, and walls.

2) Adjectives

They are used to describe the characteristics of the topic and the parts. They characteristics can be the size (big), color (brown), or the quality (clean). For example: the adjectives "big" and "clean" describe

Vocabulary for describing someone, such as:

- a) Tall, short, big, thin, fat, slim
- b) Hair, face, nose, cheeks, mouth, lips
- c) Curly, straight, long, short, wavy, black, grey
- d) Oval, round, pointed, flat
- 3) Language focus
 - a) Verb be; is, am, are
 - b) Verb have; have, has
 - c) Verb do; do, does
 - d) Simple present tense
- 4) Noun phrases

There are combination of adjectives and nouns. (e.g.: big and clean classroom, two brown doors).

So, descriptive text is a text that describes people, things or places. Descriptive text has two generic structures, namely classification and description. When you want to create or write descriptive text based on the generic structure, the text will be built well.

I The first research by Nur Afni Hidayaturrahmah, this research was o conducted in 2017 at Vocational High School 2 Sangkuriang Cimahi, entitled "Improving Student's Vocabulary Mastery Through Cooperative Script on Descriptive Text". This research was revealed based on observations in class X students at SMK X HT 1 Sangkuriang 2. The results showed that there was a development in students' vocabulary mastery. This can be seen from the test results. The minimum completeness criteria (KKM) in English is 70. The average score of students in the pre test is 50, in the first post test the average score is 65, and in the second post test the average score is 85. In addition there are 2 students (6.4%) who passed the KKM on the pre test. In the first pretest, there were 9 students (29.03%) who passed the KKM. In the second pretest, there were 29 students (93.55%) who passed the KKM. Then from the results of field notes and interviews showed a positive response from students. Students can be more active and develop their ideas. This researcher concluded that the State Cooperative Script method can improve students' vocabulary mastery.

The second research by Sapto Margono in 2017, which took place at SMAN 11 Surabaya, entitled A Descriptive Study on the Class X-2 Students' Vocabulary Mastery Through Narrative Text Taken From the Internet at SMAN 11 Surabaya. S This research deals with the analysis of the students' vocabulary mastery, which focused on comprehending descriptive texts. This vocabulary mastery can be measured by the indicators below. Below is an indicator of students' difficulties when mastering vocabulary in comprehending descriptive text. According to Nation (2000), there are three components of vocabulary that can be recognize, such as form, meaning, and usage. In this components there are five indicators which are operationally conceptualized as follows:

- 1. Students are able to identify spelling of the word in comprehending descriptive text
- State Students are able to identify affixes (prefix, root, suffix) of the word in Islamic 3. comprehending descriptive text
 - Students are able to identify the synonym of the word in comprehending descriptive text
 - Students are able to identify anthonym of the word in comprehending descriptive text
- Sultan Syarif Kasim Riau Students are able to identify grammatical verb in comprehending descriptive text.

CHAPTER III RESEARCH METHOD

A. Research Design

Nunan (1992) claim that research is undertaking structured investigation, which hopefully results in the greater understanding in the chosen area. This cresearch used descriptive quantitative research methods, which was consist of one variable that was Students' Vocabulary Mastery in Comprehending Descriptive Text. According to Creswell (2012, p.13) quantitative research identify a research problem based on trend in the field or on the need explain why something occurs. This research was conducted in accordance with what happened in eighth grade State Junior High School 4 Kampar. This research was carried out by describing the ability of eighth grade students in mastering English vocabulary, both the easiest and most difficult vocabulary for students.

B. Time and Location of the Research

This research had been conducted since 2019, in accordance with preliminary observations and pre-research made during November 2019. Then, the research was conducted on May 2021. The location of the research was at the State Junior High School 4 Kampar.

Subject and Object of the Research

The subjects of this research was the eighth grade students of State Junior High School 4 Kampar in the academic year 2020/2021, and the object of this research was the student's vocabulary mastery in comprehending descriptive text at the eighth grade students of State Junior High School 4 Kampar.

Population and Sample of the Research

1. Population of the Research

The target of this research was all the eighth grade students of State Junior High School 4 Kampar, and also as population of this research. According to Creswell (2012), population is a group of individuals who have the same characteristic. The eighth grade students of this school consist of 2 classes, VIII-1 and VIII-2; each classes consist of 31 and 29 students. The total number of the eighth grade students of state junior high school 4 Kampar is 60 students.

I2. Sample of the Research

Samples are subjects or examples of representatives of a large population that were researched and analyzed to obtain results or make conclusions. In this research, researchers used a total sampling technique. The total sampling technique is to choose the number of samples according to the number of populations. If the population was 60, then the sample to be taken was 60. This refers to Arikunto's opinion (2006), if the total population is less than 100, it is better to take all of them as the sample but if the total populations are more than 100 students the sample can be taken between 10-15% or 20-25% or more. In this school there were only two classes for the eighth grade, so the researcher used the entire population of the eighth grade students of Junior High School 4 Kampar, totaling 60 students.

E. Technique of Collecting Data

this research, data about students' vocabulary mastery comprehending descriptive text was collected by using tests and vocabulary components which are the most difficult to master by the eighth grade students of State Junior High School 4 Kampar. Data collection was carried out at State Junior High School 4 Kampar. Although at that time the pandemic had not yet subsided, the schools where the researchers studied have carried out the teaching and learning process as usual according to the recommended protocol. Therefore, researchers collected data offline at the school. Syarif Kasim Riau

According to Brown (2004) a test is a method of measuring a person's ability, knowledge, or performance in a given domain. So, in this research the researcher provided a multiple-choice cloze vocabulary test to measure the ability of the eighth grade students of English vocabulary mastery in comprehending descriptive text. Brown (2004) also explained that cloze test is a reading passage which roughly every sixth or seventh or more word has been deleted; the test-taker is required to supply words that fit into those blanks. The categories of students' English vocabulary mastery were form, word meaning, and use. The question consist of recognize spelling of the word, affixes (prefix, root, and suffix), synonym, anthonym, and grammatical verb. The number of tests was 25 questions with four choices in each question.

I of test was multiple choice cloze vocabulary, which in this test used a o descriptive text to test students' vocabulary mastery in comprehending descriptive text. The number of tests were made based on what was described on the blueprint. The questions on this test were made through self-thought after _reading some of the other references. 1. The Validity

Validity is the extent to which the accuracy of a measuring instrument in measuring data. Validity serves to measure data precisely and accurately. Creswell (2012) says validity is the degree to which all of the evidence points to the intended interpretation of test scores for the proposed purpose. The evidence used to measure something in research was valid and correct evidence.

According to Muijs (2004) validity is probably the single most important aspect of the design of any measurement instrument in educational research. Therefore, it could be seen how good a person's research design was or no matter how sophisticated the statistical analysis was, the results would be meaningless if not measured properly. If you got good results, you must really measure it with valid and correct data.

To find out the accuracy of a measuring instrument in measuring data, it was necessary to test the measuring instrument, whether it was valid or not. In this research, researchers used 30 students to test the validity. The value of $r_{observed}$ must be compared with r_{table} . Degree of freedom 30-2=28, r_{table} =28 are 0,36.

research there were 30 students, meaning N=30. According to Harrington (2009), df = N-2=30-2=28. Researchers took df 28, so in this research there were 25 vocabulary mastery in underscomprehending descriptive text test items is used in this research.

2. The Reliability

Reliability refers to the extent to which test scores are free of measurement error (Muijs, 2004). Reliability is the possibility of a system functioning properly without failure, and the system is reliable and trustworthy. According to Arikunto (2012), the realibility for good classroom achievement test are expected to exceed 0,0 and close 1,00.

0.0 - 0.20: relibility is poor

0,20-0,40: relibility is satisfactory

0,40-0,70: reliability is good

0.70 - 1.0: reliability is excellent

In this research, the researcher use SPSS 25 version to calculate the reliability of test. The steps to get the result as follows:

- a. Open the student test result in ms.excell, copy all of the result of the test items
- b. Open SPSS 25 version, click paste in the SPSS page, and all of the result of the items will emerge.
- c. From the menu SPSS, click Analyze, choose Scale, and click Reliability Analitics.
- d. Move all of variables from box reliability analysis into items.

Based on the table, the reliability of the test was ,837 that was categorized into excellent reliability. That means the instrumental accuracy involved into good level and good for a research.

F[™] Technique of Analyzing Data

According to Schreiber and Kimberly (2011), descriptive statistic are a set of procedures to summarize numerical data were a large number of observed values is reduced to a few numbers. The data gotten from the test were analyzed by using descriptive statistic. The researcher analyzed students' vocabulary mastery in comprehending descriptive text at State Junior High School 4 Kampar. Students' answer were checked after they answer the question given by the researcher. The first step that taken was identifying students' vocabulary Syarif Kasim Riau mastery in comprehending descriptive text by analyzing student worksheets. The \circ correct, then 4 points x 25 questions = 100 points.

The researcher used percentage and mean score. The formula that had been used to find the persentage was based on Sudjono (2006), the formula as cfollows:

$$P = \frac{F}{N} \times 100\%$$

Where:

S

P = Percentage

 \subseteq F = Frequency

N = Respondent

The formula that had been used to find the mean score was based on Tiro and Ilyas (in Sangkala, 2012), here was the formula:

$$X = \frac{\sum X}{N}$$

Where:

State \(\State \) = Mean score $\sum X$ = Total score

= The total number of students

To mesured the score of students' vocabulary mastery, the researcher used the classification for students' score based on curriculum 2013 in the table niversity

CHAPTER V

Conclusion

This research was conducted to determine the students' vocabulary mastery in comprehending descriptive text. Based on the results of the research, it can be concluded that the students' vocabulary mastery in comprehending descriptive text was in the less level, at the score 62.

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

B. Suggestion

N a

Observing the results of the students' vocabulary mastery comprehending descriptive text, the researcher provide some suggestions as follows:

1. Suggestion for Researcher

In this research, there are still many shortcomings, therefore suggestions that can be taken are from supervisors, examiners, and readers who read this research. I am as a researcher from this research hope that I will become a better researcher and learn more from the introduction in order to produce good and correct

2. Suggestion for Teachers

The teachers must be more creative when teaching students so that students are more interested in what is being taught.

$3. Suggestion for Students

- a. Students should learn more, both at school and at home
- b. Students must be more active and able to solve learning problems in class according to the 2013 curriculum.
