Comments from the Editors and Reviewers:

Reviewer #1: On my part, I am satisfied with the additional explanations that are crucial in the paper. However, the author needs to go through the manuscript to check the grammar.

Reviewer #2: This article looks much better now.
Please just reformat the RQ into an actual question.
"The research questions proposed are how these Muslim audiences respond and interpret messages and representations of Thai films and the extent to which their Islamic background affects this reception." There is only 1 RQ, so it should be singular".

COMMENTS FROM THE EDITORIAL BOARD:

Congratulations. The two reviewers have a generally positive feedback on the revisions you made. The editorial board is inclined to accept your manuscript subject to your final editing and proofreading. Please pay close attention to the need to make the RQ an actual question as Reviewer 2 suggested. We also have a few more technical instructions:

1. In your revised manuscript, please remove all highlights as we will need only a clean version of your manuscript.
2. In your author details file, please include a short bionote consisting of one or two sentences.
3. Please double-check your References section and parenthetical citations. We noticed that there are still entries that do not adhere to APA 7th edition citation style.
4. Please edit and proofread the entire manuscript to check the grammar, syntax and diction.

Thank you and we look forward to accepting your manuscript, confident that you will make the necessary revisions.
