ABSTRACT

Nur Zarit Sofia (2023):

The Correlation Between Students' Vocabulary Mastery and Their Translation Ability at UIN SUSKA Riau

The students who have limited vocabulary would have difficulty in translating words from source language to target language. Translation is very useful for mastering a language. Therefore, students would not be able to translate the meaning of a language without knowing a lot of vocabulary of the language. This research was aimed to find out the correlation between students' vocabulary mastery and their translation ability at the fourth semester of English Education Department of UIN SUSKA Riau. This research used quantitative research and the design employed correlation research. This research was held on June, 2023 at Department of English Education UIN SUSKA Riau. In taking the sample used the simple random sampling was applied. The sample of the research was taken 29 students from 140 populations. In collecting the data of the research, the researcher used objective test that were multiple choices consisted 20 items and one text for translation test. In this research, SPSS was used to compute Pearson Product Moment's formula. After doing the hypothetical testing, the result demonstrated that there was positive correlation between students' vocabulary mastery and their translation ability. Based on the data analysis computed by SPSS, it was obtained that Sig (P Value) = 0.000 and α =0.05. It means that H_a was accepted and H_O was rejected because Sig (P Value) = 0.000 < α =0.05. And the result shows that robserved was 0.611. With degree significance 1%, the score of rtable obtained was 0.470, therefore, robserved > rtable (0.611 > 0.470); meanwhile, with degree of significance 5%, the score of rtable obtained is 0.367, therefore, robserved > rtable (0.611 > 0.367). In conclusion, there is correlation between students' vocabulary mastery and their translation ability of the fourth semester at English Education Department of UIN SUSKA Riau. niversity of Sultan Syarif Kasim Riau

Nur Zarit Sofia (2023) :

Hubungan antara Penguasaan Kosakata Siswa dan Kemampuan Penerjemahan Mereka di UIN SUSKA Riau

 \subset Siswa yang memiliki kosakata yang terbatas akan mengalami kesulitan menerjemahkan kata-kata dari bahasa sumber ke bahasa target. Penerjemahan sangat berguna untuk menguasai suatu bahasa. Oleh karena itu, siswa tidak akan mampu menerjemahkan makna dari suatu bahasa tanpa mengetahui banyak kosakata dari bahasa tersebut. Penelitian ini bertujuan untuk mengetahui hubungan antara penguasaan kosakata dan kemampuan penerjemahan mahasiswa semester empat Jurusan Pendidikan Bahasa Inggris UIN SUSKA Riau. Penelitian ini merupakan penelitian kuantitatif dan desain yang digunakan adalah penelitian korelasi. Penelitian ini dilakukan pada bulan Juni 2023 di jurusan pendidikan Bahasa Inggris UIN SUSKA Riau. Dalam mengambil sampel penelitian, digunakan metode simple random sampling. Sampel penelitian ini diambil sebanyak 29 siswa dari 140 populasi. Dalam mengumpulkan data penelitian, peneliti menggunakan tes objektif berupa pilihan ganda sebanyak 20 soal dan satu teks untuk tes penerjemahan. Dalam penelitian ini, SPSS digunakan untuk menghitung rumus Pearson Product Moment. Setelah melakukan uji hipotesis, hasilnya menunjukkan bahwa terdapat korelasi positif antara penguasaan kosakata dan kemampuan penerjemahan. Berdasarkan analisis data yang dihitung dengan SPSS, diperoleh nilai Sig (P Value) = 0.000 dan α = 0.05. Artinya Ha diterima dan Ho ditolak karena Sig (P Value) = $0.000 < \alpha =$ 0.65. Dan hasilnya menunjukkan bahwa robserved adalah 0,611. dengan derajat signifikansi 1% diperoleh nilai rtabel sebesar 0,470 sehingga robserved > rtabel (0.611 > 0.470), sedangkan dengan derajat signifikansi 5% diperoleh nilai rtabel sebesar 0,367 sehingga robserved > rtabel (0,611 > 0,367). Kesimpulannya, terdapat korelasi antara penguasaan kosakata dan kemampuan penerjemahan mahasiswa semester empat di Jurusan Pendidikan Bahasa Inggris UIN SUSKA Riau.

CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

Background of Problem

Nowadays, English as an international language, it is used to disseminate information and news around the world. For our country, English helps the Indonesian people be cognizant of the development and their knowledge. English also becomes very important for people to exchange meaning and represent their feeling and idea. Learning a foreign language is different from learning one's mother tongue. The students will meet a lot of difficulties in learning a foreign language (the target language/TL) because each language has its own vocabulary items and unfamiliar ways of arranging the words into sentences.

Based on this problem, translation is considered a very important thing to connect the two different languages by contributing source language (SL) into target anguage. Catford (1965), defines that translation is the replacement of textual material in one language (source language) by equivalent textual material in another language (target language). It means that translation is an activity of rewriting a text from its source language into the target language without modifying or changing its meaning in order to make the information in the source language become acceptable and understandable for students.

Translation is one of the important knowledge that must be mastered by language learners. Especially in learning English which is a foreign language in Indonesia, if we as English learners want to translate a text either from English to Indonesian or from Indonesian to English, we must know the meaning of the words from the text. According to Munday (2008, p.5) the process of translation between two different written languages involves the changing of an original written text (the source text or ST) in the original verbal language (the source language or SL) into a written text (the target text or TT) in a different verbal language (the target language or TL). Translation aims to make us easier to understand the meaning and intent of the language we learn. But in translate one language to another language is not an easy job, we have to master the procedure, method and technique of translating. We also need to know the form, meaning, style, proverbs, idioms, grammar mastery, vocabulary mastery, and the other which is a factor of a language.

Vocabulary can be defined as "words we must know to communicate effectively; words in speaking (expressive vocabulary) and words in listening (receptive vocabulary)". (Neuman & Dwyer, 2009, p.385). Based on that statement, vocabulary is one aspect of language that must be learned and mastered by language learners. Learning vocabulary is important because if we want to be able to speak, write and listen well, we have to know vocabulary first. And by mastering the vocabulary of a language, we will be easier to express our opinions, ideas or our feeling both in written and spoken. Mastery of vocabulary means that we convey the meaning of the language, in this case is English. Knowing what it means, we need to translate it. So, the results of the translation can be delivered either orally (sound) or in writing. If students don't know the vocabulary of a language, they may think that they can't make a good translation.

Something influential of translation is the vocabulary mastery. Vocabulary plays an important role in learning English. Like other languages, in learning English, learners have to be able to understand words. In fact, it happens that students want to express something in English but they do not know how to express the word appropriately because of the lack of vocabulary. Therefore, vocabulary is the meaning and pronounciation of words that we use in communication. It means that vocabulary is the vital part of language that students used in communication. Without vocabulary it is impossible for them to learn language. By mastery vocabulary, they will be easy to communicate to each other. (Kurniawan, 2018).

In the preliminary research, the researcher asked one of the lecturers for the translation course at the English Education Department, State Islamic University of Sultan Syarif Kasim Riau. She said, "The student's obstacles in translating, so far are grammar, vocabulary mastery including word choice and culture". In addition, according to Setiawan and Sholihah (2017), the basic problem is to translate a text in English to make a suitable meaning in Indonesian language, the basic knowledge that can support translation ability is vocabulary mastery that students master, because students who have limited vocabulary will have difficulty in translating words from source language to target language. Therefore, translation is very useful for mastering English.

So the students have to be able to understand words, if they do not understand and do not know the meaning of English vocabulary, they will get difficulties in learning foreign language especially English. In this case, translation is needed to understand what people express and say in their languages, write in their letters, and communicate with their friends.

There are three important aspects of vocabulary, namely how the word form, how the word meaning, and also how the word is used. And from the research conducted by researchers on English education department, they have the ability to translate texts, but lack in vocabulary mastery, which is about how words mean and how to use words. This is because meaning includes vocabulary that often has more than one meaning. The meaning of language depends on where it appears in the vast expanse of discourse. Then, the grammatical function of the use of the word or phrase, the collocations that usually come with the use of the language, and any restrictions used (in terms of frequency, level, and so on).

Therefore, the researcher concludes that vocabulary in translating is needed and interconnected. Usually, some people who want to translate a language will use instant methods, such as using online translation. They do that because they lack vocabulary, so translation activities are difficult for them to do.

Definition of Term

To avoid misunderstanding in comprehending the topic of this research, the researcher defines the terms as follows:

Vocabulary Mastery

Vocabulary mastery is one of the factors in mastering English as a foreign language. It means that students have the ability to understand and use words and their meanings. The more vocabulary students master, the better their ability to speak English. (Syarifudin, 2014). In this research, vocabulary mastery is important for english learner because knowing a wide vocabulary will be useful for mastering the language.

Translation Ability

Translation ability is the skill, competence and intelligence required to transform the meaning of the source language into its equivalent in the target language. Translation is the replacement of textual material in one language with equivalent textual material in another language (Catford, 1965).

CHAPTER II

REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

Theoretical Framework

Vocabulary 1.

Vocabulary Mastery

Vocabulary is an important in language. Each language has the words to build it. The vocabulary is closely related with words. Nunan (1999, p.101) stated that "vocabulary is more than lists of target language words". Since vocabulary is a list, only system involved is that alphabetical order. It also needs the process of learning in context to get the meaning of words. In addition, According to Richards and Renandya (2002, p.255), vocabulary is a core component of language proficiency and provides much of the basis for how learners speak, listen, read and write. Without an extensive vocabulary and strategies for acquiring new vocabulary, learners often achieve their potential and may be discouraged from making use of language learning opportunities around them such as listening to the radio, listening to the native speaker, using language in different context, reading or watching television.

Based on Merriam Webster in Matruty and Rose Que (2021, p.27), Vocabulary is a. A list or collection of words and phrases is usually alphabetically arranged and explained or defined. b. A sum or stock of words employed by a language group individual or work or in a field of knowledge. c. A list or collection of terms or codes is available for use. Therefore, vocabulary is a component of a language and unit of speeches that an individual produces a word. Vocabulary also can be defined as "words we must know to communicate effectively; words in speaking (expressive vocabulary) and words in listening (receptive vocabulary)". (Neuman & Dwyer, 2009).

Without vocabulary it is difficult to communicate to each other. If someone has good vocabulary he/she will be easily to learn English well and also make good his/her communication to other. It is supported According to Barnhart in Hasan (2018), Vocabulary is 1) stock of words used by person, class of people, profession, etc. 2) Collection or list of words, usually in alphabetical order and defined. From the statment above, the researcher can conclude that vocabulary is collection or a list of words and central elements of English of learning a foreign language that should be learnt to know the meaning of the words that can help the students use language to communication well.

Meanwhile, vocabulary mastery is one of the factors in mastering English as a foreign language. It means that students have the ability to understand and use words and their meanings. The more vocabulary students master, the better their ability to speak English. (Syarifudin, 2014). In addition, According to Hornby in Widjajanti and Mario (2022, p.3) defines mastery as a complete knowledge, or great skills, and control. Moreover Cameron in Suri (2012) the indocators of vocabulary mastery are pronounciation, speling, grammar and meaning.

Based on Nation (2001) there are 3 aspects in vocabulary, they are form, meaning and use.

Form

The form is included by spelling and word parts.

- a. How is the word written and spelled?
- b. What parts of speech is the word noun, verb, preposition etc.?

Meaning

The meaning in vocabulary is involved by form and meaning, concept and referents, and associations.

- a. What word form can be used to express the meaning?
- b. What items can the concept refer to?
- c. What other words could we use instead of this one?

3) Use

Using the context (or surroundings) of the word, is one way to get at the meaning of an unknown word. There are 3 types of context clues: grammatical functions, collocations, constraints on use (register, frequency ...)

a. In what patterns must we use this word?

b. What words or types of words must we use whit this one?

c. Where, when and how often can we use this word?

Master in English vocabulary is important to translate English texts. For English learners, knowing extensive vocabulary will be beneficial to master the language.

From the explanation, the researcher concluded that in general vocabulary can be classified into several parts that include all words in the language. After knowing some points about vocabulary, it is clear that students must have a good ability in vocabulary. Not only are they rich in vocabulary, but they also understand the proper use of vocabulary.

b. The Importance of Vocabulary Mastery

Vocabulary mastery is an important part in all language skills, there are some factors that make learning vocabulary are rather difficult for second language learner. If those factors are fulfilled, someone can be said that he or she has achieved the vocabulary mastery (Thornbury in Widjajanti and Mario, 2022).

The more vocabulary students master, the better their ability to speak english (Syarifudin, 2014). In addition according to Richards and Renandya (2002), Vocabulary is core component of language proficiency and it provides much of the basis for how well learners speak, listen, read, and write. From the above statement, it can be seen that vocabulary can affect the way one thinks and the one communicates their emotions. way Correspondence will go well and be well received if one has mastered vocabulary well. Thoughts and feelings can be communicated directly and precisely when one recognizes what vocabulary to use. Therefore, the correspondence will be far from misunderstanding.

Considering the importance of vocabulary role in the students' learning, the mastery of this element should be ensured and developed. If it is not done, the vocabulary mastery of the students will be very limited and the consequence of it is they will find difficulties in learning the skills of language.

Types of Vocabulary

There are 2 types of vocabulary. They are active vocabularies and passive vocabularies. According to Jackson in Ira Riyani (2019), Active vocabulary is the words that you use in your own speech and writing, while passive vocabulary is the words that you recognize and can make sense of in the speech and writing of other people.

Meara in Nation (2001, p.38) stated that, "The distinction between active and passive vocabulary as being the result of different types of association between words. Active vocabulary can be activated by other words, because it has many incoming and outgoing links with other words. Passive vocabulary consists of items which can only be activated by external stimuli. That is, they are activated by hearing or seeing their forms, but not through associational links to other words."

The active vocabulary is often to use rather than the passive vocabulary. The active vocabulary refers to the words that students understand and use in their speaking. In the other hand, the passive vocabulary is the words that students understand but they are not yet able to use it actively in their speaking.

2. Translation

Translation Ability

Translation is transferring the meaning of the source language into the receptor language. This is done by going from the form of the first language to the form of a second language by way of semantic structure. It is meaning which is being transferred and must be held constant (Larson in Rudy Hartanto, 2017).

According to Catford (1965) "Translation is replacement of textual material in one language with equivalent textual material in another language". In addition, according to Munday (2008, p.5) described that the process of translation between two different written languages involves the changing of an original written text (the source text or ST) in the original verbal language (the source language or SL) into a written text (the target text or TT) in a different verbal language (the target language or TL).

According to Sumarni (2016), the first sense relates to translation as a process, while the second to the product. The first focuses on the role of the translator in taking the original or source text (ST) and turning it into a text in another language (the target text, TT). The second sense centres on the concrete translation product produced by the translator Newmark (2001) also stated that translation is a craft consisting in the attempt to replace a written message and/or statement in one language by the same message and/or statement in another language. It means that, translation is applying someone's ability through transferring the meaning of source language into the receptor language (target language) both written and oral. Translation activity is not only change the meaning of a source language into target language but the learners as a translator also must understand and pay attention to the meaning of vocabulary use.

Based on the explanation above, the researcher concluded that translating is not an easy job. It has a difficult process to make a good translation. We have to know the method and the principles in translating. We also have to mastered lot of vocabularies to help us in translating because we are not just doing translating word but we translate the meaning and transfer a message from one language to another language.

In ability is basically the state or quality of being able, the capacity or power to do something physically or mentally (Hornby, 1974, p.2). Translation ability refers to one's capacity in making conversions from the source language to another language and in transferring meaning from the source language to the target language. In translation, the most important principle is that meaning should be transferred from the source language into the target language, adaptation and judgment should be applied to the target language form.

Translation requires the ability to explore, as Machida (2011) stated "When learners are translating, they can see what makes sense and what doesn't. When their comprehension or production in SL/FL doesn't make sense to them, they can go into details of the language. For example, they may explore not only words, but sub-word level such as morphology, or beyond words and sentences, and their inquiry may extend to non-linguistic, cultural issues".

According to Machali (2009), assessment in translation can be done through stages. The first stages: functional assessment, the general impression to see whether general purpose of deviant writing. Otherwise, the assessment may to the next stage.

The second steps: detail assessment based on the terms and criteria. The aspects of the criteria for assessing translated words include: accuracy of matching (linguistic, semantic, pragmatic), reasonableness of expression in the target language, terminology, and spelling. In terms of accuracy of matching (linguistic, semantic, and pragmatic), it is assessed whether the translation is correct and clear, changes (local/total), and whether it the previous meaning. deviates from Furthermore, reasonableness of expression is assessed by whether the translation is natural or literal (in the sense of being rigid).

Then in terms of terminology, it is assessed whether the translation is correct and clear. And in terms of spelling, it is assessed whether the translation is correct and standardised. "Local" means it concerns a few sentences in comparison to the total number of sentences in the text (percentage), then "total" means it concerns 75% or more when compared to the total number of sentences in the text, then "natural" means natural or not rigid, and "deviation" means it always implies an error, and this is not the case for changes (e.g. changes in style).

The next stage: detailed assessment of the second phase is classified in a scale or continuum and can be converted into values.

The first indicator (almost perfect category), is the translation is almost equal to original text, there are no mistake in grammar, spelling and using vocabulary. The second indicator (very good category), there are no mistake in using vocabulary, there are any grammar and spelling mistake but not many. The third indicator (good category), there are grammar and idiom mistakes but not more than 15% from all texts, there are any mistakes in spelling. The fourth indicator (enough category), there are grammar and idiom mistakes but not more than 25% from all texts, there are any mistakes in uncommon vocabulary. The fifth indicator (worse category), there are grammar and idiom mistakes more than 25% from all texts.

Based on the explanation above, it can be concluded that the classification of scoring criteria such as accuracy reproduction meaning refers to aspects of linguistics, semantics and pragmatics; fittingness expression and selection of words that are suitable with the meaning of the text; and spelling refers to the accuracy of the letter. . In other word, the classification of scoring criteria translating text used components of grammar.

The Kinds of Translation

Larson in Zoraya, Sutopo & Yuliati (2017) states that translation is classified into two main types:

Dilarang mengutip sebagian atau seluruh karya tulis ini tanpa mencantumkan dan menyebutkan sumber:

1) Form-Based Translation

> Form-based translation attempts to follow the form of the source language. It is known as literal translation. It means that form based translation is type of translation that follow exactly the form of the source language or like word by word translation. Literal translation, translation is trying to adjust to the shape of the source language, so follow the exact form of language support. Here example of literal translation:

> > SL: Who has he been living with?

TL: Siapa telah dia tinggal dengan?.

The translation above sound unnatural. The word who is simply translated into siapa, has is translated into telah, he is translated into dia, been living is translated into tinggal and with into dengan. The result is translation by word for word translation and it causes the combination of the target language sentence sound unnatural and usually makes the readers confused.

2) Meaning-Based Translation

> Meaning-based translation makes every effort to communicate the meaning of the source language text in the natural form of the receptor language is called idiomatic translation. It means that idiomatic translation is a process translation that changes the form of source language and giving the sense of original meaning so that the receptor can understand the translation full. The translator basically needs to know about the meaning of the source language before he transfers this meaning into another language. Example of idiomatic translation:

SL: Who has he been living with?

TL: Dengan siapa dia tinggal?

Idiomatic translation above is acceptable for the target readers because is sounds natural. The phrase a woman of steel is not simply translated into wanita dari besi but idiomatically translated into wanita yang berjiwa kuat because the translator understand the original meaning and knows both languages well. So for this study, meaning-based translation or idiomatic translation is used to determine students' ability to translate.

The Correlation between Vocabulary Mastery and Translation Ability

Master in English vocabulary is important to translate English texts. A research by Kurniawan et al (2018) with the title "The correlation between students' vocabulary mastery and their translation ability", indicates that to have a good in translating, students should have a good mastery of vocabulary. It means that there was correlation between students' vocabulary mastery and their translation ability.

In addition, according to Newmark (2001) also stated that translation is a craft consisting in the attempt to replace a written message and/or statement in one language by the same message and/or statement in another language. So, translation activity is not only change the meaning of a source language into target language but the learners as a translator also must understand and pay attention to the meaning of vocabulary use.

Vocabulary mastery is very important in translation. The more words one knows, the better she/he undestands a text. Vocabulary helps the translator to understand the message of the source language and then re-express the whole message to the target language. The richness of vocabulary has very conspicuous effects on the translator's. A translator must be able to choose appropriate words that represent the meaning of the source language in the target language. So, the message thoughts or ideas that he/she translated will be understood by the readers. The translator who have a better knowledge of vocabulary or who know many vocabulary items and its appropriate usage tend the express their ideas more effectively than those who have a limited mastery of vocabulary. By knowing vocabulary items, a translator can also vary the use of words in his/her work to avoid repetition of words that can make the result of the his/her translation sound monotonous.

From explanation above, it is necessary for students to master vocabulary because it can be used to translate sentence, text or discourse well. Without knowing about vocabulary it is difficult for them to translate well because to make meaning surely the students must know the kinds of each word.

Relevant Research

There are relevant research which have relevancy to this research.

They are:

The first relevant research is a research by Iwan Kurniawan, Anggi Yogi Saputri, and Rahmiati Isnaini entitled "The correlation between students' vocabulary mastery and their translation ability at the first semester of the eleventh grade of MAN 2 Bandar Lampung in the academic year of 2017/2018". There were two variables in this research, the independent variable, vocabulary mastery (X) and dependent variable, Translation ability (Y). This is correlational research, and it is used to know the correlation between vocabulary mastery and translation ability. In collecting the research data, the researcher used objective tests that consisted of 20 items and one text for the translation test. In this research, SPSS was used to compute Pearson Product Moment's formula. After doing the hypothetical testing, the result demonstrated a positive correlation between students' vocabulary mastery and their translation ability. Based on the data analysis computed by SPSS, it was obtained that Sig (P Value) = 0.000 and $\alpha=0.05$. Ha was accepted and Ho was rejected because Sig (P Value) =0.000 < α =0.05. Based on this research, it was suggested that to have a good ability in translating; the students should have a good mastery of vocabulary.

The second relevant research is conducted by Eko Yunius Setiawan and Lilis Sholihah, M.Pd entitled "The correlation between students' vocabulary and their ability in translating english text at the sixth semester students of UM Metro". This research is a quantitative research by using correlation method which is focused on the students' vocabulary mastery, the students' ability in translating English text, and the correlation between students' vocabulary mastery and students' ability in translating English text. The findings showed positive and significant correlations between students' vocabulary mastery and students' ability in translating English text, it is proven by rxy= 0.507 and is consulted by rtable (40;0.05) = 0.312and the result is 0.507 > 0.320. Furthermore, the significant level is gotten t = 3,622, this value is compared with ttable for the degree of error 5% by two tail test and dk = n-2 = 38, so it is obtained ttable = 2.02439. Because the vocabulary mastery and translation ability are correlated with each other, the English learner should increase their mastery of vocabulary to support their ability in translating English text.

The third relevant research is conducted by Ummu Kulsum entitled "The correlation between vocabulary mastery and translation accuracy of students at english language as foreign language application standard (ELFAST) Pare Kediri". There are two problem statements in this study.

The first one is whether the more vocabulary students have, the more their translation accuracy or not. The second is how significant is the correlation between vocabulary mastery and translation accuracy. The instruments that were used in this research are documentation and tests (vocabulary mastery test and translation accuracy test). The obtained data of tests was analyzed by using statistic corelation product moment formula. The result showed that the more vocabulary of students have, the more their translation accuracy; and there is a significant correlation between vocabulary mastery and translation accuracy with high interpretation either in significant level of 5% or 1%. It was proven by the result of the obtained data, rxy is greater than rtable (0,805>0,482 or 0,606). It can be drown a conclusion that the students' translation accuracy is very much influence by the amount of vocabularies they have.

The last related study is conducted by Fuyudhatul Husna, Hesty Widiastuty and Aris Sugianto entitled "Correlation among grammar mastery and vocabulary size toward translation ability on report text at seventh semester students in State Islamic Institute of Palangka Raya" that use quantitative method with a correlational design. The researcher's instruments were three test which were grammar mastery, vocabulary size, and translation test that were tested to the 32 students' translation class in academic year 2017/2018. The numerical data were analyzed by Pearson Product Moment that showed that: (1) the most students got "fail" (43.75%) grammar mastery, (2) the most students got "excellent" (46.875%) vocabulary size, (3) the most students got "enough" (87.5%) translation ability. The significant correlation among three variables were proved by correlation coefficient 0.604 (strong category), Fchange > Ftable = 8.349 > 3.33, and the contribution of grammar mastery and vocabulary size delivered 36.5%. Thus, it sums that students' grammar mastery and vocabulary size correlate with the quality of students' translation ability on report text at seventh semester students in academic year 2017/2018.

The relevant researches above have similarities and differences with the researcher research. The difference between this research and the first relevant research conducted by Iwan Kurniawan, Anggi Yogi Saputri and Rahmiati Isnaini (2018), and the second relevant research conduct by Eko Yunius Setiawan and Lilis Sholihah (2017), is on the operational concept, respondent, time, location and the value of rcounting the result. Next, the difference come between this research and previous research conducted by Ummu Kulsum (2020), the research differs in the specification of the variable y. And another difference between this research and previous research conducted by Fuyudhatul Husna, Hesty Widiastuty and Aris Sugianto (2021), is on the specification of the variable x and y.

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH METHOD

Research Design

According to Creswell (2012) "correlation design is a procedure in quantitative research in which investigator measures the degree of association or relation between two or more variable using statistical procedure of correlation at analysis". There are two variables investigated in this study. First, independent variable, that is the students' vocabulary mastery which is symbolized by "X". Second, the dependent variable is the translation ability is symbolized by "Y".

This research used quantitative research and the design employed correlation research. The correlation research has a goal to finding whether there is a correlation between one variable and another or not and the researcher wants to know whether there is a correlation between two variables or not on this research. Thus, the researcher used correlation design to find out the answer whether or not the students' vocabulary mastery had correlation between their ability in translating English text into Indonesian by the fourth semester students at English Education Department of Islamic State University of Riau.

Location and Time of the Research

The location of this research was at English Education Department of Islamic State University of Riau. It was located at HR. Soebrantas panam street No. 155, Kampar, Riau. The time of this research was on March-June 2023.

Subject and Object of the Research

Based on the explanation above, the researcher concludes that the subject and object of this study are as follows:

- The subject of this research was the fourth semester students at English Education Department of Islamic State University of Riau.
- The object of this research is the correlation between students' vocabulary mastery and their translation ability.

State Islamic University of Sultan Syarif Kasim Riau Population and Sample of the Research

Popolation 1.

Creswell (2012) defines a population is a group of individuals who have the same characteristic. A target population (or the sampling frame) is a group of individuals (or a group of organizations) with some common defining characteristic that the researcher can identify and study. The population of this research is the students at the fourth semester of English Education Department of UIN SUSKA RIAU.

2. Sample

Sample is a small portion of population. Within this target population, researchers then select a sample for study. A sample is a subgroup of the target population that the researcher plans to study for generalizing about the target population. (Creswell, 2012).

In this research, the researcher used the simple random sampling to get the sample. According to Weiss (2012) simple random sampling is the sampling procedure for which each possible sample of given size is equally likely to be the one obtained. In simple random sampling, the researcher selects participants (or units, such as schools) for the sample so that any individual has an equal probability of being selected from the population. Arikunto (2010) said that if the population is more than 100 persons, the sample can be taken between 10-15%, 20-25% or more. In this research, the researcher took 20% students from the total number of the population. It can be seen in the table below:

Technique of Data Collection

According to Arikunto (2010, p.193) test is the number of questions or exercises or other tool to measure one skills, intelligence, ability or talent. It means that test is one of the ways to collecting data which is conducted by questions to measure something.

The technique of collecting data in this research was giving tests to the students. The tests gave to the students after the researcher given the explanation about the purpose of the research and procedure of completing the instrument briefly.

"Dampak Kepariwisataan terhadap Ketenagakerjaan"

Dampak kepariwisataan terhadap ketenagakerjaan dapat dengan mudah dianggap remeh. Apabila hanya dilihat sebagai pekerjaan di hotel-hotel pilihan, dan di perusahaan atau pelayanan pariwisata yang mapan, tenaga kerja yang tercipta ternyata relatif sederhana. Hal ini khususnya terjadi apabila dikaitkan dengan besarnya tenaga kerja di suatu negara. Namun, akan keliru kalau kita berkesimpulan bahwa sektor pariwisata yang sedang berkembang tersebut tidak mempunyai lebih banyak dampak pada penciptaan tenaga kerja dalam perekonomian secara keseluruhan.

Validity and Reliability of the Test

The test used for testing students' vocabulary mastery has to have The reliability and validity of the data to be obtained in an accurate manner. The appropriateness of the interpretation shall be taken into account in the explanation of validity made from test score.

Validity is the development of sound evidence to demonstrate that the test interpretation (of scores about the concept or construct that the test is assumed to measure) matches its proposed use. While Reliability means that scores from an instrument are stable and consistent. Scores should be nearly the same when researchers administer the instrument multiple times at different times (Creswell, 2012).

Validity of the Test

To analyze the validity of the instrument, the researcher conducted a try out by handing 28 students who was not included in the research sample. The researcher used SPSS 26 Program to analyze the data. The researcher compared R observed to R table at significant level of 5% is 0.374 (df= N-2=26). The R observed of each item should be higher than the R table to be considered as a valid question. If the observed of r on the analysis of less than R table, it can be concluded that these items are not significantly correlated with the total score (declared invalid) and must be removed or corrected.

Reliability of the Test

Creswell (2012) says that reliability means that scores from an instrument are stable and consistent. Scores should be nearly the same when researchers administer the instrument multiple times at different times. Also, scores need to be consistent. The following table is the internal consistency level of Cronbach Alpha:

Table III.5 The Level of Acceptable Reliability

| No | Reliable | Validity |

| 1 | >0.90 | Very high |
| 2 | 0.80-0.90 | High |

| 4 | 0.60-0.69 | Marginally/Minimally |
| 5 | < 0.60 | Unacceptably low |

(Cohen, Manion & Marison, 2007, p.506)

The researcher also used the SPSS 26 program to find out whether the Instrument was reliable or not.

Technique of Data Analysis

1. Analyze of Students' Vocabulary Mastery

The first step, the researcher scores the multiple choice answers on the student vocabulary mastery test. The total multiple choice is 20 items, each correct item will get a score of 5, so if all items are correct the maximum score is 100. And the data from the test will be classified by the classification below:

Analyze the Correlation between Students' Vocabulary Mastery and Their Translation Ability

To analyze the data, the researcher used parametric statistics. In parametric statistics, there are two assumptions which must be fulfilled, they are normality test and linearity test.

Parametric statistical significances tests, such as analysis of variance and least squares regression, are widely used by researchers in many disciplines, including statistics parametric test to produce accurate results, the assumption underlying them such as normality test and linearity test must be satisfied.

Normality Test

Normality tests are supplementary to the graphical assessment of normality. It means that normality test is used to know whether the data normal distribution or not. In this research, statistical computation by using SPSS (Statistical Package for the Social Science) of version 26.0 used for normality test. SPSS is comprehensive system for analyzing data. SPSS can take data from almost any type of file and use them to generate tabulated and plots of distributions and trends, descriptive statistics, and complex statistical analyses. It means that SPSS is a program that can be used to perform data entry and analysis to create tables and graphs. In this research, the researcher used Kolmogrove-Smirnov and Shapiro-Wilk. Ho is accepted if Sig (P Value) $> \alpha = 0.05$.

In this case, the criteria of normality test as follows:

Ho : The data are normally distributed.

Ha : The data are not normally distributed.

While the criteria acceptance and rejection of normality test are:

Ho is accepted if sig $> \alpha = 0.05$

Ha is accepted if sig $< \alpha = 0.05$.

b. Linearity Test

Linearity test is used to know the size of the linear relationship between two variables X and Y, before analyzing the data by using Pearson's product moment formula, the researcher checked out whether the data obtained are linear or not. The researcher used SPSS (Statistical Package for the Social Science) to check it in order to make the researcher easy. Then the researcher checked the result of linearity. If the result was higher than α , it means that the data were linear.

To determine relationship between two parametric variables.

The statistical hypothesis were as follow:

Ha: There is correlation between students' vocabulary mastery and their translation ability at the fourth semester at English Education Department of UIN SUSKA RIAU.

To analyze there is any correlation between those two variables (the students' vocabulary mastery and their tanslation ability), the researcher analyzed by using Pearson product moment. Then, the strength of correlation is interpreted based on coefficient correlation in the table below:

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

Conclusion

This research was conducted to find out whether there is a significant correlation between vocabulary mastery and translation ability of the fourth semester at English Education Department of UIN SUSKA Riau or not. Based on what has been discussed, presented and analyzed in the previous chapters, the researcher concluded that:

- The mean score of fourth semester students' vocabulary mastery at 1. English Education Department of UIN SUSKA Riau is 74.66. It is categorized as "Good" level.
- The mean score of fourth semester students' translation ability at English Education Department of UIN SUSKA Riau is 81.45. It was categorized as "Very Good" level.
- There is a significant correlation between students' vocabulary mastery 3. and their translation ability of the fourth semester at English Education Department of UIN SUSKA Riau. It is categorized as "Strong" level (0.611). It can be said that Students' Vocabulary Mastery of the fourth semester students at English Education Department of UIN SUSKA Riau has a contribution on Translating Ability. 37.33% of students' translation ability was influenced by vocabulary mastery.

Suggestion

Based on the conclusion above, the researcher gave some suggestion as follows:

1. Suggestion for the Teacher

In this research, the researcher found out that the correlation between students' vocabulary mastery and their translation ability can be used to develop and motivate the students to master the vocabulary and ability in translating. Due the finding, the English teacher should give more attention and motivate the students to upgrade their vocabulary. The teachers also should give the input about students' work so they would know their weakness in translating text.

2. Suggestion for the Students

The students should study hard and more practice in learning English in order to develop their vocabulary mastery and their ability in translating because to get good ability in translation, the students have to master of vocabulary.

3. Suggestion for Further Researchers

The researcher hopes the findings of this research may be reference to the following research for further research with the different objectives, sample, methodology, and occasion.

"Dampak Kepariwisataan terhadap Ketenagakerjaan"

Z Dampak kepariwisataan terhadap ketenagakerjaan dapat dengan mudah dianggap remeh. Apabila hanya dilihat sebagai pekerjaan di hotel-hotel pilihan, dan di perusahaan atau pelayanan pariwisata yang mapan, tenaga kerja yang tercipta ternyata relatif sederhana. Hal ini khususnya terjadi apabila dikaitkan dengan besarnya tenaga kerja di suatu negara. Namun, akan keliru kalau kita berkesimpulan bahwa sektor pariwisata yang sedang berkembang tersebut tidak mempunyai lebih banyak dampak pada penciptaan tenaga kerja dalam perekonomian secara keseluruhan.
