ABSTRACT

Misel Fhaledia Rahmadhani (2025): The Effect of Hello English Application on Students' Speaking Ability at MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah Kampar.

The primary objective of this study was to investigate whether the use of the Hello English application significantly affects students' speaking ability at the eleventh grade of MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah Kampar. This research employed a quantitative approach using a pre-experimental design, specifically the one-group pretest and posttest design. The sample consisted of 29 students from class XI IPA, selected through purposive sampling. Data collection was conducted by using a speaking test, which assessed five components of speaking: pronunciation, grammar, vocabulary, fluency, and comprehension. The test was administered twice before and after the treatment with different but comparable topics. The data were analyzed by using a paired samples t-test in SPSS version 23. The results revealed that students' average speaking scores improved significantly after being taught using the Hello English application. The sig. (2-tailed) value was less than 0.05, indicating a statistically significant difference between pretest and posttest scores. Therefore, the alternative hypothesis (H_a) was accepted and the null hypothesis (H_0) was rejected. Based on the findings, it can be concluded that the Hello English application has a significant effect on improving students' speaking ability, making it an effective medium for enhancing oral language skills in EFL classrooms.

ABSTRAK

Misel Friledia Rahmadhani (2025): Pengaruh Aplikasi Hello English terhadap Kemampuan Berbicara Siswa di MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah Kampar

Tujuan utama dari penelitian ini adalah untuk menyelidiki apakah penggunaan aplikasi Hello English berpengaruh secara signifikan terhadap kemampuan berbicara siswa kelas XI di MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah Kampar. Penelitian ini menggunakan pendekatan kuantitatif dengan desain pr-eksperimental, khususnya desain satu kelompok pretest dan posttest. Sampel penelitian terdiri dari 29 siswa kelas XI IPA yang dipilih melalui teknik purposive sampling. Pengumpulan data dilakukan dengan menggunakan tes berbicara yang menilai lima komponen kemampuan berbicara: pelafalan, tata bahasa, kosa kata, kelancaran, dan pemahaman. Tes diberikan dua kali, yaitu sebelum dan sesudah perlakuan, dengan topik yang berbeda namun setara. Data dianalisis menggunakan uji paired samples t-test melalui program SPSS versi 23. Hasil analisis menunjukkan bahwa rata-rata skor kemampuan berbicara siswa meningkat secara signifikan setelah pembelajaran menggunakan aplikasi Hello English. Nilai signifikansi (sig. 2-tailed) yang diperoleh kurang dari 0.05, yang menunjukkan bahwa terdapat perbedaan yang signifikan secara statistik antara skor pretest dan posttest. Oleh karena itu, hipotesis alternatif (Ha) diterima dan hipotesis nol (H0) ditolak. Berdasarkan temuan ini, dapat disimpulkan bahwa aplikasi Hello English memberikan pengaruh yang signifikan dalam meningkatkan kemampuan berbicara siswa, sehingga aplikasi ini efektif digunakan sebagai media pembelajaran untuk mengembangkan keterampilan berbicara dalam pembelajaran Bahasa Inggris sebagai bahasa asing.

ملخص

ميسيل فريليديا رمضانى، (٢٠٢٥): تأثير تطبيق Hello English على مهارة الكلام لدى التلاميذ في

مدرسة المركز الإسلامي الهدایة الثانوية الإسلامية بكامبار

المدارف الأساسي من هذا البحث هو التتحقق مما إذا كان استخدام تطبيق Hello English يؤثر تأثيراً كبيراً على مهارة الكلام لدى تلاميذ الصف الحادى عشر في مدرسة المركز الإسلامي الهدایة الثانوية الإسلامية بكامبار. وقد استخدم هذا البحث منهجاً كمبياً باستخدام التصميم شبه التجربى، وتحدى تصميم مجموعة واحدة مع الاختبار القبلي والاختبار البعدى. تكونت عينة البحث من 29 تلميذاً من الصف الحادى عشر لقسم العلوم الطبيعية، وتم اختيارهم بأسلوب العينة المادفة. وقد تم جمع البيانات باستخدام اختبار شفوي لتقدير مهارة الكلام، وشمل التقييم خمسة مكونات: النطق والقواعد والمفردات والطلاقة والفهم. وقد أُجري الاختبار مرتين: قبل المعاجلة وبعدها، باستخدام موضوعات مختلفة ولكنها متكافئة. تم تحليل البيانات باستخدام الاختبار الثنائى للعينات المتراقبة بواسطة برنامج الخرزة الإحصائية للعلوم الاجتماعية الإصدار 23. وقد أظهرت النتائج أن متوسط درجات التلاميذ في مهارة الكلام قد تحسن بشكل ملحوظ بعد استخدام تطبيق Hello English. حيث كانت قيمة الدلالة الإحصائية أقل من 0.05، مما يشير إلى وجود فرق ذي دلالة إحصائية بين نتائج الاختبار القبلي والبعدي. وبناءً على ذلك، تم قبول الفرضية البديلة ورفض الفرضية المبدئية. وخلاص البحث إلى أن تطبيق Hello English له تأثير كبير في تحسين مهارة الكلام لدى التلاميذ، مما يجعله وسيلة فعالة لتعزيز مهارات اللغة الشفوية في صفوف تعليم اللغة الإنجليزية كلغة أجنبية.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

A. Background of the Problem

Speaking is deemed to be the most important skill in learning a foreign or second language. According to Harmer (2007), speech is a crucial ability in daily activities for building relationships with others. At present, the need for speaking mastery in English has been dramatically increasing due to the strengthening position of English as a language for international communication. Speech is the prime means of communication and the structure of the society itself would be substantially different if we had failed to develop communication through speech (John Laver, 1994). To develop oral communication, information gap activities are suggested. Information gap activities have the scope of integrating all the four skills (Venkateswaren, S., 1995).

Strong English speaking ability supports communication skill achievement. Speaking is viewed as a skill in conveying information, ideas or concepts to the interlocutor (Atkinson, 1985). Accordingly speaker is sued to delivery thought clearly, accurately and acceptably. Mastery of language is not only determined by how many or large the mastery of grammar but also how accurate and clear the speaker says the words, phrases, or sentences by sentences in the speech of information; states the ideas in complete sentences. Main ideas are the most important information to be conveyed by the speaker; develop ideas by providing explanations, descriptions or examples; use sentences which are easy to be understood by interlocutors; and use the appropriate sentences intonation and gestures (body movements or eye contact) is to help interlocutor's understanding. In line with that, Lazaraton (2001) defined speaking as an activity requiring the integration of many subsystems of language

According to Chandran (2011), speaking is one method of communication. Speaking is a useful talent. It is created through listening or reading. When we enunciate the words, we make the speaking sound Natsir(2016). By speaking English one must know about grammar in order to understand a word or sentence when interacting with other people. English is one of the international languages which every country focuses on learning, this is because it helps communication between countries (Alqahtani 2015). When studying English, students must master four skills: speaking, listening, writing, and reading. Speaking is a communication skill that is used to express and transfer ideas and feelings. Richards (2008).

Speaking is a production skill that falls into two main categories: accuracy and fluency. Accuracy consists of the use of vocabulary, grammar and pronunciation through several activities, fluency takes into account "the ability to keep going when speaking spontaneously" (Derakhshan et al., 2016). Realizing the high importance of speaking skill in EFL programs, it is very important to find and use the best instructional methods, materials, activities, media, and other requirements that will help the learners master speaking skill.

However, although a great number of studies aimed to help learners master speaking skill has been conducted, many EFL learners still find speaking it very difficult to master. In addition to the view that speaking is “the most complex and difficult skill to master” (Hinkel, 2005, p. 485). Another cause is possibly that those studies still mainly dealt with the linguistic aspects of second language acquisition. Little research has been carried out regarding students’ perspectives on the learning of speaking in the EFL classroom.

In order to accomplish students' needs toward speaking, in Curriculum 2013 (K13) provides speaking as one of the skills in Mastering English that must be taught and learned in Junior High School. MA Islamic centre Al-Hidayah Kampar is one of the schools that also uses Curriculum 2013 (K13). In this school, English subject is taught 4 teaching hours. The learning objectives stated in this syllabus for the students are capable interact fluently and spontaneously on a regular basis with native English speakers and quite possibly without there are obstacles for both parties communication or interact in narrative, exposition, discussion text types.

Based on the researcher's experience when teaching the eleventh-grade students during PLP (Pengenalan Lapangan Persekolahan) in MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah Kampar, students took the learning process less seriously and pay less attention to the materials the teachers provided. The majority of students did not actively participate in the English class, as seen during the learning process. The researcher discovered that most students struggle with speaking English, particularly while practicing conversation. Based on the student's perspective, English lessons are so tedious because the teachers often use conventional teaching methods such as teacher-centered instruction in the classroom. Fundamentally, this method places the teacher in charge of supervising all activities in the classroom. Despite the possibility of group work, the majority of the teaching-learning process is spent with the teacher outlining concepts and giving students individual work. As a result, the students are less motivated to learn and practice English in class. Learning outcomes of students will be impacted by the implementation of inadequate or inappropriate learning strategies (Koesrini & Kasimbara, 2022).

Based on the difficulties stated above, the researcher believes there is a need to utilize technology as learning media in teaching-learning English, namely Hello English application. The features of this application are easy to operate, very suitable for the characteristics of students, and in accordance with school infrastructure. This application is expected to attract students' enthusiasm for learning English, particularly speaking, and increase their learning outcomes.

The Hello English application is a software media that supports learning process. This application is an English language learning application that allows users to learn English language through interactive modules. Hello English was launched in October 2014 by Culture Alley. In this study, the researcher focused on the conversation feature that will be implemented on students to improve their speaking ability more fluent and accurate. Besides that, this application also has feature "games" to make the users or students more interested to learn. Then, they can discuss some topics with other users of

This application is expected to attract students' enthusiasm for learning English, particularly speaking, and increase their learning outcomes. This is supported by previous research where the Hello English application is effective to improve the students' English vocabulary (Ismiati & Kurniawan, 2019). In addition, this application is a pleasurable medium to learn pronunciation and it makes students could practice pronouncing the words in the correct ways continuously (Seflanti & Arina, 2019).

CHAPTER II

LITERATURE REVIEW

A. Theoretical Concept

1. Speaking

a. Definition of Speaking

Speaking is classified as a productive language competence.

According to Cameron (2016), Speaking is one of the productive uses of language because people use it to actively articulate their ideas to others so that others can make sense of them. In order to communicate a speaker should consider other components of language when conveying meaning clearly and accurately. Speaking is the ability to verbally express opinions, thoughts, facts, and feelings to other people, animals, and even to oneself.

According to Nunan (2003) speaking is a productive oral skill which consists of composing systematic verbal utterances to convey meaning. According to Murica (2001) speaking is a complex skill, which must be taught everywhere, and is a skill that students learn better in groups. According to several studies, speaking is one of the four skills in English that students must master, and speaking is indispensable for effective communication in any language. According to Kusmaryati (2008/2009), Speaking ability is a skill, namely communicating the sound of speech to express and convey messages or ideas.

Speaking is so intertwined with daily interactions that it is difficult to define. In addition, various fields of study, linguistics, psychology, anthropology, and sociology—have informed speaking. (Gumperz, 1999, p. 98). It therefore becomes harder to compile a concise yet comprehensive definition of speaking. The best we can do is to define speaking by its feature, its functions and its conditions.

Cameron said, speaking as the active use of language to express meanings so that others can understand them. We can deduce from these assertions that speaking is about how to make decisions. The other person (the interlocutor) understands the speaker's sentiments and ideas or concepts by using language to communicate. Speaking is a skill that students should work on more. The more they practice, the better they will get at speaking English. They must have effective communication skills in order to explain their ideas. Meanwhile, that effective communication skills are required in everyday life, college or university studies, and any job based on such studies, Barrass (2006).

According to Harmer (2007) , speaking is a skill that becomes an important part of daily life that it is the way for people to create social relationships as human beings. It can be concluded that speaking is the most important the skill of language which is about a tool or device in communication, by speaking, people can deliver their ideas, opinion, or thought about the world. Then, through speaking skills, people can communicate their ideas and messages with others.

Speaking is a production skill that falls into two main categories: accuracy and fluency. Accuracy consists of the use of vocabulary, grammar and pronunciation through several activities, fluency takes into account "the ability to keep going when speaking spontaneously" (Derakhshan et al., 2016). Pronunciation is to get correct sounds when you say something or a sentence in learning languages. The pronunciation is related to the phonological process that determines the many differences in sounds and patterns in the language. After mastering the three components above, fluency becomes the main goal in speaking.

The researcher concluded from various assertions that speaking is the active use of language to express meanings so that others can make sense of them. Speaking is about convincing the other person of the speaker's sentiments and ideas or ideas by carrying them out. out the act of communication via language. Speaking must be audible to others in spoken language.

Based on explanation above, Speaking is one of the four language skills (reading, writing, listening and speaking). So, speaking is an important part of English skills that must be learned further in the teaching and learning process in the classroom.

b. Components of Speaking

Speaking skills are very important for everyone because in daily life need information, and to get some information someone must to communicating with other people. According to Harmer (2007, p. 343) in (Masroh et al., 2019) speaking is a complex skill because at least it is concerned with components of grammar, vocabulary, pronunciation, fluency and comprehension. Speaking has some important components, there are :

1) Pronunciation

According to Richard and Schmidt (2002, p. 519) said that pronunciation is the way a certain sound is producing. It's different with the articulation causes related with the real pronunciation of sounds production in the mouth, the stresses of pronunciation are on the sounds way producing by the hearer. So pronunciation is very important because if people just have good grammar or and accurately with little using pauses like „ums“ and „ers“, and so on. vocabulary, they have not good speaking, so other people don't clearly understand what do you talking about.

2) Grammar

According to Nunan (2003, p.153) grammar usually can be thought as a set of rules specifying the correct pattern of words at sentence level and the conversation is difficult to understand if the conversations with someone have many mistakes of grammatical. So, to help the students to speak more accurately have been studying about English grammar.

3) Vocabulary

Vocabulary is one of the important components of speaking, because someone cannot say something without vocabulary. According to Pollard (2008, p. 13), vocabulary is a basic building block of language learning. It's mean that vocabulary is the basic skill of language that must to learned, because with vocabulary the students be able to speech and make a good sentence.

4) Fluency

Hornby et al. (2005, p. 156) said that fluency is able to speak a language easily and well. According to Pollard (2008, p.16) fluency is defined as the ability to speak communicatively, fluently and accurately. Fluency explained about good speaking without the wrong. So to know the students' fluency, the researcher can be check students' ability to speech correctly and fluency front of the class without something wrong.

5) Comprehension

Hornby (2000, p. 194) expressed that comprehension is the mind, act power of understanding exercise aimed in improving is testing. ones. It is explained that comprehension is the most important skill of speaking.

b. Problems of speaking

The students' problems in speaking English are caused by some factors. According to Brown in Arini Khairunnisa (2018) states that Speaking has some aspects that should be known by the students. Those are speech production, pronunciation, vocabulary, and fluency. A good speaker is someone who can develop words that can be understood by the listener. Then, these aspects also can be the problem of speaking, so it must be concern of learning speaking, and the following is the discussion :

- 1) Speech Production According to Thonbury (2005), speech is produced utterance by utterance in response to the word by word, and utterance by utterance production or the person we are talking to. So, speech production is the essential thing in speaking English, because it will explain about the characteristic of the form of spoken language. The learners need to know how the speakers differ from one another and differ forms of speech in particular circumstances. They have to learn how speaking style influences the acquisition of the listener.
- 2) Pronunciation In Oxford Learner Pocket Dictionary, pronunciation is the way in which a language or a particular word or sound is spoken. Then, Broughton (2003, p. 49) says that pronunciation teaching deals with two interrelated skills: recognition or understanding the flow of speech, and production or fluency in the spoken language.ether.
- 3) Vocabulary Baker and Westrup in Arini Khairunnisa (2018) argue that the lack of vocabularies cause many students difficult to respond when the teachers ask the students to say something in foreign language because they may have little ideas about what to say, which vocabulary to use, or how to use the grammar correctly.

4) Fluency Based on Matthews in longman ((1994, p. 78) stated that fluency refers to speaking smoothly with as few hesitations and repetitions.

c. Teaching Speaking

Teaching is the process of imparting knowledge, skills, values, or information to others with the intention of facilitating learning. A teacher, also known as an educator, is someone who guides, instructs, and facilitates the learning process. Teaching can occur in various formal and informal settings, such as schools, colleges, universities, workplaces, and community organizations. Teaching is a dynamic and multifaceted profession that plays a crucial role in shaping the intellectual, social, and emotional development of learners. While formal education is a common context for teaching, the principles of teaching can also apply to various informal settings where knowledge and skills are shared. Key aspects of teaching include: instruction, facilitation, assessment, feedback, adaptability, motivation, curriculum development, classroom management, professional development, building relationships..

B. Relevant Research

The previous research was conducted by Sandy Juanita from the Department of English Education Muhammadiyah University of Surakarta in 2019. The title of the research is "The Implementation of Hello English Application as English Learning Media to Teach Speaking Skill in Tourism major at the Tenth grade Students at SMK Nigeria 1 Karanganyar". The researcher observes several theories and reads a number of books as references and information that relevant to the topics discussed. The author conducted research at SMK Nigeria 1 Karanganyar. The results of the study have revealed that the Hello English application is an excellent technique to motivate students and to increase their involvement in the speaking learning process.

Ranta Butarbutar and Elia Simatupang "The Impact of technology Hello English Application In EFL Classroom". The researcher explained about the effectiveness of hello English application for the alternative media for teaching simple past tense (SPT), grammar beyond (Apsari Y, 2018). In accordance with the phrase of the creator of this application, Alley (2016) aims to make users of this application easier to learn English about grammar, vocabulary and pronunciation as well as many more benefits that can be obtained by its users. To say nothing of (Hidayati & Diana, 2019) confirm that using mobile hello English Application might be raising students' motivation and independent way to learning English. By implementing vary technologies in learning English Second, Shofi Nur Jannah (2020), with entitled “Hello English Application as Supporting Device In English Learning Speaking Skill”. This study shows that the Hello English application not only helps improve students' vocabulary skills but also helps in improving students' speaking skills. and finds a lot of interactive lessons and games related to the speaking part.

Based on the previous related research above, researcher shows that the the Hello English application can be used as a medium for teaching English subjects. where previous research had a positive impact on students' interest in learning English. The difference between previous research and this research, previous research may not have the form and characteristics of this research, but this research can provide information and data to support this research. and also this research will guide students in completing lessons following existing procedures and findings.

C. Operational concept

- Interactive Speaking Activities: Provides speaking tasks, dialogues, and oral exercises that engage learners.
- User-Friendly Interface: Clear, accessible design helps users focus on speaking practice without technical difficulties.
- Motivational Features: Points, levels, and badges motivate students to actively participate in speaking tasks.

2. Indicators of Speaking ability

Adapted from Brown, 2004; Goh & Burns, 2012)

a. Fluency

The ability to speak smoothly without unnatural pauses.

b. Pronunciation

Clear articulation and correct sound production

c. Vocabulary

Appropriate and varied word choice during speaking.

d. Grammar

Correct use of grammatical structures in spoken language.

e. Comprehensibility

The extent to which the speaker can be understood by others.

D. Hypothesis of the research

The hypothesis of the research conducted the statical direction with the function to shows changes or differences that do not lead to one particular direction, but can be greater or less than the estimated value. This test tests whether there is a significant difference in both directions. There are two hypotheses for this research:

1. Alternative Hypothesis (Ha): There is an effect of Hello English Application on Students Speaking Ability or if $p\text{-value} < \text{sig } \alpha = 0.05$ (5%). It means that the alternative hypothesis (Ha) is accepted and the null hypothesis (H0) is rejected
2. Null Hypothesis (H0): There is an effect of Hello English Application on Students Speaking Ability or if $p\text{-value} > \text{sig } \alpha = 0.05$ (5%). It means that the alternative hypothesis (Ha) is rejected and the null hypothesis (H0) is accepted.

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH METHOD

A. Research Design

This research uses quantitative methods, because quantitative research is suitable to be carried out. Based on Ary et al. (2010, p.2) quantitative research uses objective measurements to collect numerical data that are used to answer questions or tests predetermined hypothesis. In other words, this study was to analyze students listening skills assessed from tests and hypotheses. In this study, the researcher used a pre-experimental. The comparison between the pretest and posttest results provides information about changes that might be caused by the treatment then the results were in the form of a test.

In addition, Creswell (2014) stated quantitative methods include a focus on assumptions and data collection to analyze ideas, support or reject the assumption. Based on the explanation provided above, the researcher defined that a pre-experimental study is relevant to the current study because this research involves data collecting for presenting the significance effect of using Hello English Application on Students' Speaking ability.

B. Location and Time of the Research

This research was conducted from April-June 2025. This research was focus on eleventh grade students at MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah is located at Jl. Raya Pekanbaru-Bangkinang Km. 39, Kampar Village, Kampar District, Kampar Regency, Riau Province, Indonesia.

C. Subject and Object of the Research

The subjects of this study were the Eleventh grade students of MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah and the object of this study was the effect of Hello English application on students speaking ability.

D. Population and Sample of the Research

1. Population the Research

Creswell, (2012) states "Population is a group of individuals who have the same characteristics". The population of this research were the eight grade students at MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah. The number of students in each eleventh-grade class at the school. The XI PK class had 26 students, while the XI IPA class had 29 students. The XI IPS program is divided into two classes, with XI IPS 1 having 19 students and XI IPS 2 having 17 students. In total, there were 91 students in all the eleventh-grade classes at the school.

Table III.2. Population of the research

No.	Class	Number of students
1.	XI PK	26
2.	XI IPA	29
3.	XI IPS 1	19
4.	XI IPS2	17
	Total	91

2. The Sample of the Research

The sample is part of the population. In this research, a sample was selected from the population using the purposive sampling technique in one class. According to Sugiyono (2011), Purposive Sampling is a data collection technique that takes specific factors into account. As a result, the researcher choose the 11 IPA 1 because the phenomena of this class are relevant to the topic of this research and provide a good sample for this study.

3. Technique of Data Collecting

Brown (2004, p.3) stated that test means a method of measuring of a persons ability, knowledge or performance in given domain. In this study, the researcher used a test to evaluate students' speaking skills. The assessment was divided into two parts: a pre-test and a post-test.

The pretest and posttest were in the form of a speaking test. The speaking test consists of two topics with several questions about the daily activity in every topic. The students have to choose one topic to talk about. The pretest and posttest had different topic options as described below:

Table III.3
Blueprint of the Speaking Test

No.	Test	Topic
1.	Pretest	My Weekend Activities
2.	Posttest	My Weekday Activities

The speaking components that were assessed were pronunciation, vocabulary, grammar, fluency, and comprehension (Hughes, 2003). The speaking components, scores, and descriptions are explained as follows:

Tabel III.4
The Rubric of Speaking

Component	Score	Description
Pronunciation	5	Native pronunciation, without any hint of a foreign accent.
	4	Foreign accents and occasional mispronunciations do not interfere with comprehension.
	3	Foreign accents with some mispronunciations which occasionally lead to misunderstanding, concentrated listening is required.
	2	Frequent mispronunciations and extremely heavy accents make comprehension difficult and require repetition to be understood.
	1	Pronunciation is often incomprehensible.
Grammar	5	There are few mistakes and no failure patterns.
	4	There are occasional errors that show a lack of control over specific patterns, but no mistakes that cause misunderstandings.

Vocabulary	3	Frequent errors indicate major patterns that are out of control and occasionally cause misunderstanding and irritation.
	2	Constant errors frequently obstruct communication and reveal control over only a few important patterns.
	1	The majority of the grammar is incorrect.
	5	Professional vocabulary is precise and comprehensive, while generic vocabulary is adequate for addressing a variety of social contexts and complex practical issues.
	4	Professional vocabulary is sufficient for discussing specific interests, while generic vocabulary allows for the circumlocutionary discussion of any non-technical subject.
	3	The word choice is occasionally incorrect, and vocabulary constraints prohibit discussion of some frequent social and professional themes.
	2	Vocabulary is restricted to fundamental, survival, and personal topics (food, transportation, time,

5	Even for the most basic discussion, vocabulary is insufficient.
4	Speech is effortless and fluid as that of native speakers on all professional and general themes.
3	Speech is smooth and fluent, but there is apparent non-native speech and evenness.
2	Speech is occasionally hesitant, with some unevenness caused by word-searching and rephrasing.
1	Speech is often hesitant and abrupt; sentences are sometimes left incomplete.
5	Speech is extremely slow and inconsistent, except when it comes to brief or routine sentences.
4	Understands all expectations of an educated native speaker in formal and conversational communication.
4	Understands all of the words used in a typical formal discussion, except the simplest or low-frequency themes and extremely rapid speech.

	3	Understands formal speech quite well when involved in dialogue, but sometimes requires repetition of words.
	2	Understands cautious, slightly simplified speech when conversing, but it may be necessary to repeat and rephrase some words.
	1	Understands only slow and very simple speech on typical touristic and social issues; continuous repetition and rephrasing are necessary.

Adapted from Hughes, (2003)

The researcher used the following steps to analyze the data: first, analyzed the total score of the students' speaking ability by using this formula:

$$\text{Total Score} = P + G + V + F + C$$

Where:

P = Student's ability in pronunciation

G = Student's ability in grammar

V = Student's ability in vocabulary

F = Student's ability in fluency

C = Student's ability in comprehension

To gather the necessary data for the study, the researcher used the Methods:1) Pre-test

According to Ary (2010: 274), in a design using a pretest, subjects can perform better on the post-test because they have learned the subject matter from the pretest, are familiar with the format of the test and the testing environment, and have developed a strategy to perform well on the test or are less anxious about the exam the second time around. The pretest is given to the class before the treatment begins. This test assesses students' basic speaking ability.

2) Treatment

The treatments were given to the samples. In this research , it was conducted four times treatment. In each meeting, the students are taught by Hello English Application.

The treatment was conducted over four meetings, each lasting 2 x 45 minutes (2 teaching periods). During these sessions, the Hello English application was used as the main learning medium to improve students' speaking ability. The activities were aligned with the curriculum and the speaking components: pronunciation, grammar, vocabulary, fluency, and comprehension. Below is the detailed description of the treatment for each meeting:

i. Meeting 1: Introduction to Hello English and Basic Conversation Practice

- The researcher introduced the Hello English application, helped students download, install, and create an account.
- Students selected their English proficiency level and set up their profile.
- The lesson focused on greetings and self-introduction, using the “Conversation → Greeting” section in the app.
- Students practiced short conversations with built-in speaking tasks and received feedback from the app’s voice recognition feature.
- The teacher provided additional guidance and corrected mispronunciations in class.

ii. Meeting 2: Vocabulary and Pronunciation Practice

- Students explored the “Vocabulary Games” and “Pronunciation” features in the app.

- Vocabulary focused on expressions related to weekend activities as preparation for the pre-test.
- Students completed interactive quizzes and repeated target words and phrases aloud.
- Each student practiced a short monologue describing their weekend.
- The teacher offered individual feedback on pronunciation, vocabulary use, and fluency.

iii. Meeting 3: Speaking Practice on Weekday Activities

- Focus: Topic “My Weekday Activities” (used later in the post-test).
- Students accessed daily routine lessons and conversation modules inside Hello English.
- Each student delivered a short spoken description of their weekday activities.
- Class discussion followed, including error correction and improvement of sentence structure and grammar.

- Pair work activities encouraged students to use the expressions they learned in real-time conversations.

iv. Meeting 4: Speaking Performance and Final Evaluation

- Students reviewed lessons using the “Practice Again” and conversation features in the app.
- Role-play tasks were given using themes such as “Ordering Food” or “Talking on the Phone”.
- Students performed in pairs and individually, focusing on natural fluency and appropriate vocabulary.
- The teacher assessed speaking ability based on the five components from Hughes (2003): pronunciation, grammar, vocabulary, fluency, and comprehension.
- The post-test was administered at the end of this session to measure progress.

3) Posttest

The post-test was given after the treatment. The results of this test show the effect of using the Hello English app on assessing students' speaking skills. According to Creswell (2012, p. 297), after the treatment, a researcher evaluates other attributes or characteristics that are assessed for participants in the experiment after the treatment has been applied.

After assessing students Speaking results using the scoring rubic, the researcher was provided a score classification of the students Speaking. According to Layman (1972) the classification of students score can be seen as follows :

No.	Reliability	Category
1.	81-100	Very Good
2.	61-80	Good
3.	41-60	Moderate
4.	21-40	Low
5.	0-20	Very low

4. Technique of Data Analysis

Pre- and post-test scores were used by the researcher to analyze the data. The score was analyzed statistically. The researcher used the following formula in this study:

- a. Normality Test A normality test is used to check if the data to be analyzed follows a normal distribution. This is important because data with a normal distribution can better represent the population.
- b. Paired Sample T-test The researcher utilized the Paired-Sample T-Test to analyze the data. To find out if there is a significant difference between the means of two related measurements, such as pre-test and post-test scores, a paired ttest is used.

In this study, the researcher applied the Paired Samples T-Test using SPSS 23. The significant value was analyzed to determine whether the difference between the mean scores of the pre-test and post-test was statistically significant.

- $H_0: \text{sig. (2 tailed)} > 0.05 \text{ or } t_o (\text{tobtain}) < t_{\text{table}}$ There is no significant difference in the effect of using Hello English Application on Students Speaking Ability at MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah Kampar.

5. Validity and Reliability of the Test

a. Validity

Before the speaking test instrument was distributed to the students in the experimental class, it was first validated to ensure its appropriateness. Validity refers to the accuracy of the inferences or interpretations made from the test scores. In this study, the researcher used content validity, which is defined as the extent to which a measurement instrument covers the full domain of the concept being measured. As Burke, Johnson, and Christensen (2014) note, content validity involves evaluating a test instrument to confirm that it contains all essential items and excludes irrelevant ones for a particular construct . To ensure content validity, the researcher conducted the following steps:

- Designing the Test Based on the Curriculum

The speaking test was developed by referring to the 2013 English Curriculum (K13) for senior high school students. Based on the basic competence in speaking, students were expected to be able to express ideas in spoken English using appropriate pronunciation, vocabulary, grammar, fluency, and comprehension. The test topics were selected to reflect daily life activities relevant to the learners, such as “My Weekend Activities” and “My Weekday Activities”, which are also aligned with the types of conversations provided in the Hello English application.

- Developing the Test Specification

The test specification was created to guide the development of the instrument, including:

- Test objectives based on curriculum standards.
- Test topics adapted from the Hello English app.
- Target vocabulary relevant to the topic.
- A clear and consistent scoring rubric based on five

- speaking components (Hughes, 2003).
 - Instruction clarity and time allocation.
- Providing Clear Instruction to the Participants

The test required participants to deliver a short spoken monologue related to one of the selected daily activity topics. The instruction was designed to simulate practical, communicative speaking situations as featured in the Hello English app.
- Expert Judgment

To confirm the validity of the instrument, it was reviewed by two English language education experts. The experts assessed whether the test content reflected the basic competence and indicators stated in the syllabus, and whether the test aligned with the instructional objectives. The instrument components reviewed included: The test blueprint, the speaking test tasks, the scoring rubric and the lesson plan.
- Validation Result

The validation process was documented as follows:

Date	Activity
Thursday, 10 April 2025	The researcher submitted the test instrument, blueprint, rubric, and lesson plan to two expert validators for review.
Friday, 11 April 2025	The validators returned the reviewed instruments and confirmed that the test items were relevant, appropriate, and in line with the syllabus.

The validators completed the expert validation sheet provided by the researcher, scoring each aspect of the instrument. The overall validation result indicated that the test instrument was valid and ready to be used in the study.

b. Reliability

After having tested the validity of the instrument, the next step was to examine its reliability. Reliability refers to the consistency or dependability of an instrument in measuring what it is intended to measure. A reliable instrument ensures that the results are stable and reproducible under similar conditions. As noted by Creswell (2008), a reliable test yields consistent results when administered by different raters or in different contexts.

There are five common types of reliability:

- ZStability (test-retest reliability)
- Equivalence (alternate-form reliability)
- Equivalence and stability (alternate form and test-retest)
- Internal consistency reliability
- Inter-rater reliability

In this study, the researcher applied inter-rater reliability, since the instrument involved performance-based assessment (speaking test), which was scored by two different raters. Each student's speaking performance both in pre-test and post-test was assessed independently by two trained raters using the same scoring rubric that covered five components: pronunciation, grammar, vocabulary, fluency, and comprehension (Hughes, 2003).

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

This study aimed to examine the significant difference of students' speaking ability between before and after being taught by using the Hello English application at MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah Kampar. The participants of this study were the students of class XI IPA at MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah Kampar. Referring to the presentation of data and data analysis in the previous Chapter IV, the researcher can conclude that the answers to the existing problem formulations are as follows:

1. The students' speaking ability before being taught by using Hello English application is in the "moderate" category, with a mean score of 56.00. The data revealed that most students had difficulties in pronunciation, vocabulary usage, and fluency.
2. The students' speaking ability after being taught by using Hello English application is categorized in "good" category, with a mean score of 63.24. The students demonstrated better performance in all five assessed components: pronunciation, grammar, vocabulary, fluency, and comprehension.
3. There is a statistically significant difference between the students' speaking ability before and after the implementation of the Hello English application, as indicated by the result of the paired samples t-test where the sig. (2-tailed) value was 0.008 (< 0.05). Therefore, it can be concluded that the Hello English application is effective in improving the students' speaking ability.

B. Suggestions

Based on the conclusion of the research above, it is known that the students' speaking ability by using the Hello English application at MA Islamic Centre Al-Hidayah Kampar had improved. There are some suggestions as follows:

Suggestion for the Teacher: The Hello English application can be used as an alternative learning media in teaching speaking. This application is equipped with various interactive features such as conversation practice, vocabulary games, and pronunciation tools that help students learn independently and more enthusiastically. Teachers are encouraged to integrate this digital platform into classroom learning to create a more engaging and interactive environment.

Suggestion for Students: students are expected to take advantage of learning media such as the Hello English application not only during class but also outside of school. By using this application consistently, students can improve their speaking skills, gain more vocabulary, and build confidence in using English in daily communication.

For other researchers: Future researchers are expected to explore more applications or other types of digital learning media that are suitable for enhancing speaking ability or other English skills. They can also conduct research with a broader scope, involving different levels of education or comparing the effectiveness of Hello English with other mobile learning platforms.

The Rubric of Speaking

Component	Score	Description
Pronunciation	5	Native pronunciation, without any hint of a foreign accent.
	4	Foreign accents and occasional mispronunciations do not interfere with comprehension.
	3	Foreign accents with some mispronunciations which occasionally lead to misunderstanding, concentrated listening is required.
	2	Frequent mispronunciations and extremely heavy accents make comprehension difficult and require repetition to be understood.
	1	Pronunciation is often incomprehensible.
Grammar	5	There are few mistakes and no failure patterns.
	4	There are occasional errors that show a lack of control over specific patterns, but no mistakes that cause misunderstandings.
	3	Frequent errors indicate major patterns that are out of control and occasionally cause misunderstanding and irritation.
	2	Constant errors frequently obstruct communication and reveal control over only a few important patterns.
	1	The majority of the grammar is incorrect.
Vocabulary	5	Professional vocabulary is precise and comprehensive, while generic vocabulary is adequate for addressing a variety of social contexts and complex practical issues.
	4	Professional vocabulary is sufficient for discussing specific interests, while generic vocabulary allows for the circumlocutionary discussion of any non-technical subject.

	2	Vocabulary is restricted to fundamental, survival, and personal topics (food, transportation, time, family, etc.)
	1	Even for the most basic discussion, vocabulary is insufficient.
	5	Speech is effortless and fluid as that of native speakers on all professional and general themes.
	4	Speech is smooth and fluent, but there is apparent non-native speech and evenness.
	3	Speech is occasionally hesitant, with some unevenness caused by word-searching and rephrasing.
	2	Speech is often hesitant and abrupt; sentences are sometimes left incomplete.
	1	Speech is extremely slow and inconsistent, except when it comes to brief or routine sentences.
	5	Understands all expectations of an educated native speaker in formal and conversational communication.
	4	Understands all of the words used in a typical formal discussion, except the simplest or low-frequency themes and extremely rapid speech.
	3	Understands formal speech quite well when involved in dialogue, but sometimes requires repetition of words.
	2	Understands cautious, slightly simplified speech when conversing, but it may be necessary to repeat and rephrase some words.
	1	Understands only slow and very simple speech on typical touristic and social issues; continuous repetition and rephrasing are necessary.

The researcher used the following steps to analyze the data: first, analyzed the total score of the students' speaking ability by using this formula:

$$\text{Total Score} = P + G + V + F + C$$

Where:

P = Student's ability in pronunciation

G = Student's ability in grammar

V = Student's ability in vocabulary

F = Student's ability in fluency

C = Student's ability in comprehension
